CAR DEALERS ENJOY BIG OUTING

Annual High Jinks at Forest Home Declared Best In Association History

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.
FOREST HOME, San Bernardino Mountains, June 12.—As the last bit of camp equipment was packed away, the final tent folded, and closing ceremonies preparatory to breaking camp, every member of the Glendale Automobile Dealers' association and their guests voted the third annual high jinks held here yesterday and today as the best ever staged by the organization.

Nearly fifty persons attended the annual event, making the journey from Glendale to Forest Home yesterday afternoon without incident or accident. They were welcomed by Frank Culver, manager of Forest Home, declared by all who patronize the camp as the state's most jovial host.

Ex-Presidents There
Slightly wearied from the 80-mile trip over the Foothill boulevard and the route from San Bernardino to Redlands and on to Forest Home, the dealers and their guests gathered about the festive board for dinner. It was a repast that is seldom experienced in the span of mankind, and one that will be remembered in the years to come.

Mrs. Sherman Elected Head of Federation

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Mrs. John D. Sherman of Estes Park, Colorado, formerly of Chicago, is the newly elected president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, announcement was made at the biennial convention here today. She defeated Mrs. Wallace Perham of Glendive, Mont.

Mrs. Edward Franklin White of Indiana was elected vice president; Mrs. Florence Floore of Texas treasurer and Mrs. James Hays of Georgia, recording secretary.

None of the three candidates for second vice president, Mrs. W. R. Alford of Michigan, Mrs. Florence Dillert of Pennsylvania and Mrs. John Ruhl of West Virginia, received a majority and another vote will be ordered, it was announced.

Borah Declines to Take Vice Presidency

WASHINGTON, June 12.—President Coolidge failed today to get Senator William E. Borah of Idaho to reconsider his refusal to accept the Republican vice-presidential nomination.

Borah conferred with the president at the White House for half an hour, informing him that his decision not to accept the nomination was irrevocable and that nothing could cause him to change that decision. He has given directions, Borah said, that if his name is presented to the convention, it should be withdrawn immediately.

HALT ROAD WORK IN MONO COUNTY

SACRAMENTO, June 12.—All road work in Mono county was halted today by the state highway commission "until such time as unnecessary obstructions are removed and normal travel is resumed." The order discontinuing road work in the northern county followed the refusal of the county supervisors to discontinue the foot and mouth fumigation stations maintained in that district by the state of Nevada.

Proclamation

Whereas, the Glendale baseball team, known as the White Sox, has won sixteen straight games this season, and by so doing has brought great renown to the city of Glendale; and
Whereas, the baseball champions of the Pacific fleet of the United States navy will meet the Glendale White Sox in an exhibition game at the Glendale baseball park on South San Fernando road on Saturday, June 14; now, therefore,
I, Spencer Robinson, Mayor of Glendale, do hereby proclaim that Saturday, June 14, be known as Glendale Baseball Booster Day, and I do earnestly urge all the citizens of Glendale who enjoy a clean, scientific exhibition of the great American pastime to attend the said game and give their enthusiastic support to Glendale's winning baseball team.

Given under my hand and the seal of the City of Glendale this 12th day of June, A. D. 1924.
SPENCER ROBINSON,
Mayor of Glendale.

NEW BATTLE CRY ADOPTED BY GOBS

No Longer Care Where They Eat, Just Want to Beat Glendale Saturday

The old war cry, "When do we eat?" which was heard just as often and just as loud aboard ship as on mud-soaked French battlefields, has given way to a new slogan, as far as the sailors of the Pacific coast fleet are concerned. The gobs' battle cry now is: "Beat the White Sox."

Word from the U. S. S. Mexico is to the effect that the fleet's championship team will be primed for battle Saturday when they invade Glendale to meet the White Sox. Their one ambition in life, according to fleet rumors, is to turn back the White Sox, and put a stop to the winning streak which has carried the Glendale team through sixteen games without a defeat.

Saturday is to be the big day in Glendale. Many sailors will accompany their team to this city and one of the fleet's bands will be on hand to furnish music. Inasmuch as it will also be a national holiday—Flag Day—it is anticipated the gobs will put on some appropriate exercises.

Park Cars In Park
The tickets, which are selling for the small sum of fifty cents, are available at nearly every business house in the city. Members of the committee working to put over the big game include R. E. Johnston, H. M. Bennett, S. S. Gilhuly, J. I. Wernette, W. H. Hooper, William Horne and others.

Baseball fans who wish to attend the game but do not like to leave their cars on the outside of the park, will be permitted to park their cars around the edge of the playing field, it was announced today by Frank Kerwin, owner of the Glendale team.

Girl Killed as Cars Crash In Coyote Pass

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Miss Flater Escovaro, 21, was killed in Coyote pass today when a machine in which she was riding with her brother crashed into another car. Deputy sheriffs are seeking the driver of the car which hit the Escovaro machine.

CITY REPLIES TO TRAFFIC ADVISERS

Council Denies Arrests Are Being Made to Secure Municipal Revenue

The Glendale Traffic Advisory committee met this morning with the City Council to confer on the recommendations that were offered by the committee on May 15 for the solution of the traffic problems that Glendale is called on to face. Every item in the list submitted by the committee was taken up in detail, and the result of the conference is shown in the attached reply to the committee's recommendations.

The question of the boulevard stop plan is still under advisement by the City Council, but it is stated by M. Walters, chairman of the traffic committee, that it is receiving favorable consideration. "To the members of the Traffic Advisory Committee: We, as members of the council of the city of Glendale, appreciate the effort and careful consideration you have given in the study of traffic conditions in the city of Glendale, and we have carefully studied your report of May 15.

Misinformation, Claim
"With relation to your first suggestion, we desire to say that, in our opinion, there has been in no department of the city of Glendale any incentive either to arrest or fine for revenue, but that all arrests and punishments heretofore made, and which will in the future be made, have been, and will be, for the purpose of protecting life and property. That you have evidently been misinformed when you state that the street budget has been heretofore raised by traffic fines. The appropriation made in the last fiscal budget for street purposes was $70,000, and was appropriated from the general budget funds. The revenue to come from all police court fines was $35,000, and was estimated in the budget as a part of (Turn to page 2, col. 6)

BLAZE OF LIGHT IN BANK'S LOBBY

Formal Opening to Take Place Next Saturday Afternoon, Night

The handsome Italian Renaissance lobby of the Glendale branch of the Security Trust and Savings bank was a blaze of light last night for the first time, preparatory for the formal opening, Saturday. Vice President R. F. Kitterman and his staff were present to watch the transformation as the beautiful indirect lighting troughs were connected with electric current for the first time. Everyone was delighted as the light came on. All except Architect Alfred F. Priest. In his artistic eye he had conjured up a different effect for the rays on the beautifully decorated ceiling. Consequently, a whole army of decorators with altitudinous ladders have been thrown into the lobby today to give a slightly different tint to the ceiling. The job of redecorating will be finished in time for the opening Saturday, however.

Shrine Club Orchestra
The popular Kelly Shrine club orchestra of six pieces will be stationed in the mezzanine floor Saturday to dispense music from 4 to 10 p. m.

A. M. Kelly, the director, has organized a smaller orchestra to play at the same time in the safe deposit department in the basement.

Quite a feature will be made of a tour of the bank's coin, book and the safe deposit vaults Saturday. Not many people have ever been inside of a bank's own vault, and an opportunity to do so in the Glendale branch of the Security Trust and Savings bank will be given Saturday for the first and last time.

G.O.P. LEADER FORMALLY SELECTED

Wisconsin Delegation Blocks Efforts to Make Choice Without Opposition

CLEVELAND, June 12.—Calvin Coolidge was nominated by the Republican national convention here this afternoon, and at the time of his nomination it appeared his running mate would be either Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa or Representative Everett Sanders of Indiana.

The vice-presidential situation changed with startling suddenness even while the roll call that nominated the president was in progress.

The nomination of Mr. Coolidge himself was put through with a whoop, despite the fact that three states gave Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin and Hiram Johnson of California a total of 44 votes. The Wisconsin delegation also prevented Mr. Coolidge's nomination being unanimous—an act that got them a renewal of hisses that has been their lot in this convention.

A motion to suspend the rules and make the nomination by acclamation just before the roll call of states was begun, failed because Chairman Mondell ruled it out of order.

The president's nomination became official when Nevada was reached. Her nine votes gave him a total of 555, a bare majority and it swelled continuously from then on until North Dakota was reached.

North Dakota cast seven votes for Coolidge and six for La Follette. The chairman of the delegation, a Coolidge supporter, demanded the delegation be polled and the six La Follette advocates (Turn to page 6, col. 6)

ORGANIZATION LEADERS IN PUZZLING POSITION

Sanders, Kenyon or Curtis Acceptable to Coolidge As Running Mate

CLEVELAND, June 12.—A three-cornered fight for the vice-presidential nomination between Representative Everett Sanders of Indiana, Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa, and Senator Curtis of Kansas, began here this afternoon when delegates to the Republican national convention re-assembled in the auditorium after an hour's recess.

Sanders, a little-known congressman from Terre Haute, Ind., leaped into the spotlight during a hectic day, and when the delegates re-assembled he was leading the field, backed by the organization leaders from New York, Pennsylvania and a scattering of other states.

No Easy Task
President Coolidge informed organization leaders over the telephone that Sanders was "acceptable," but he also told them Kenyon was "acceptable." And Curtis' friends did not take kindly to his brusque elimination after a general agreement had been reached during the forenoon that would have assured him the nomination.

Administration leaders faced no easy task in putting Sanders across, despite the control of the larger delegations by their state leaders. The Hoosier congressman was unknown to the vast majority of delegates. During the hour re- (Turn to page 11, col. 1)

DR. BURTON IN TRIBUTE TO NATION'S EXECUTIVE

Speaker Ignores Political Aspects, Praises President's Personal Attributes; Oration Is Masterpiece, Delegates Declare

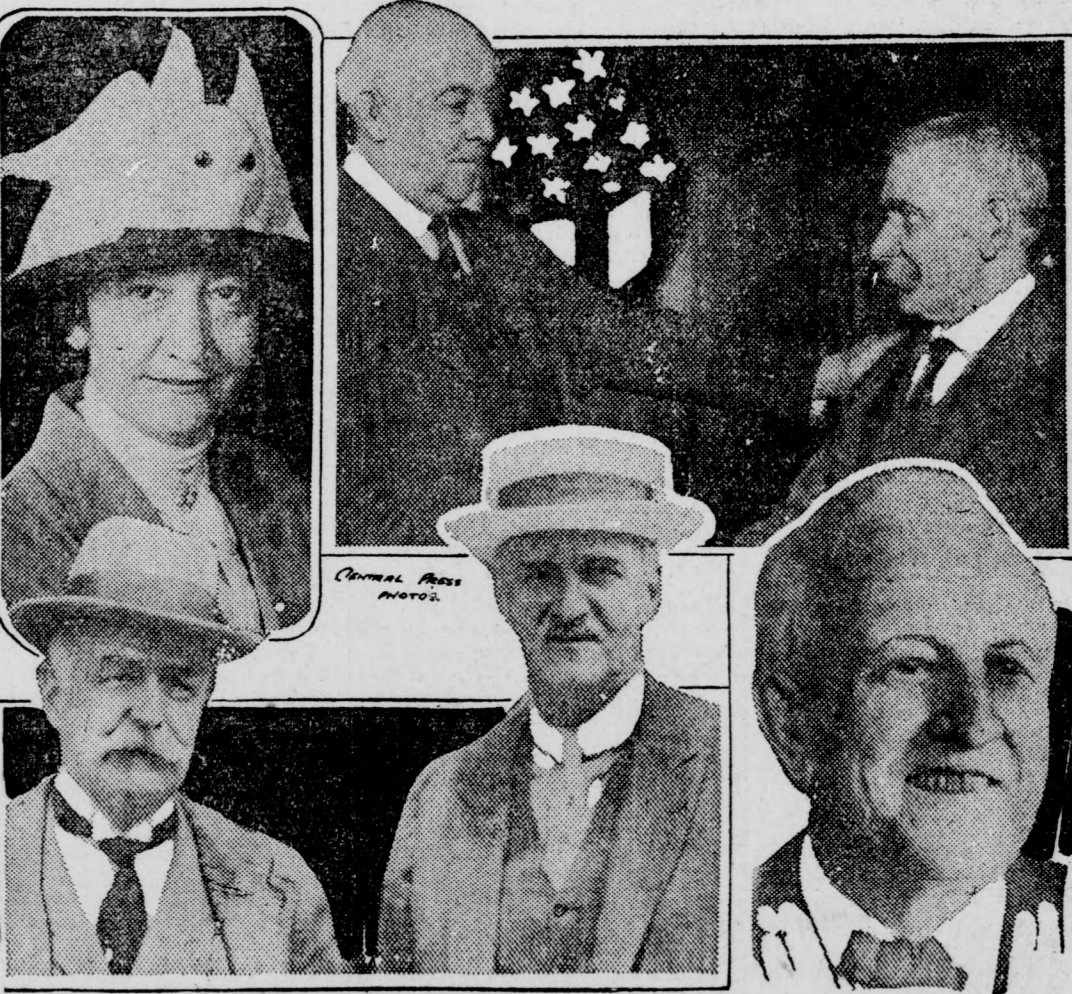

CLEVELAND, June 12.—Calvin Coolidge's name as a candidate to succeed himself in the White House was presented to the Republican national convention here by Dr. Marion Leroy Burton, head of the University of Michigan, in a speech that for sheer eloquence has few parallels in convention history.

Casting aside the customary form of nominating speeches, Dr. Burton spoke for an hour about Mr. Coolidge and few candidates have had a more enthusiastic advocate.

Dr. Burton divided his lengthy oration into three parts. He spoke first of Calvin Coolidge, "the man;" then about Calvin Coolidge, "the American;" and finished off with an eloquent presentation of Calvin Coolidge, "the human being."

Personal Attributes
He did not go into the president's policies and executive acts. He left that, he said, for the politicians, and confined his address solely to the moral, spiritual and mortal attributes of Mr. Coolidge. To him he ascribed in a degree approached by few men the virtues of simplicity, industry, frugality, patience, vigilance, honesty and service.

Dr. Burton took constant recourse to the speeches and writings of Coolidge as governor, as vice-president and as president. He made no effort to present the president's views specifically on any question likely to be an issue in the forthcoming campaign, but dwelt only in the most general terms. His speech throughout bristled with such descriptions as: "He has moral fibre," "He can be trusted," "Frugality is a part of his being," "To him, life is work," "His mind has a chance to work because his tongue gives it an opportunity," "He is not given to hilarity," "To him, religion is essential to life," "He has been successful in politics because he has been simply honest," "In the most thrilling sense of the term he is an American," "His is a sane, forward-looking (Turn to page 6, col. 2)

American Marines Are Sailing From Japan

TOKIO, June 12.—The American embassy today confirmed a report that United States Marines which had been guarding the old embassy compound since the earthquake, prepared to assist in the event of another quake, are sailing from Japan on board the destroyer Pope, now in Yokohama. It is probable that the soldiers on duty there will depart soon. The foreign office denied a charge in the press that the American soldiers are armed.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The rush of Japanese into the United States before the American exclusion law goes into effect July 1, continued today, following the arrival here of 541 Japanese yesterday aboard the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Taiyo Maru. Every available space aboard the liner was jammed with Japanese. Four other liners, now at sea with capacity loads, are due to arrive here before July 1.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Model Convention

All the pleasure of a model convention was enjoyed yesterday afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon club, where the literature department met for the annual luncheon.

The convention feature was the clever idea of Mrs. Vernell Rapp, chairman of program. In carrying out the idea she selected Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, retiring curator, to represent Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. H. D. Ford, newly-elected curator; Mrs. John C. Urquhart, president of the California federation; Mrs. R. W. Bolton, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Under their direction a tabloid convention was enjoyed. There were forty club members and guests who were present for the luncheon and program later.

The club colors, yellow and green, dominated the table decorations. Yellow and white daisies were used and the place cards bore little sketches of yellow chrysanthemums. At each place was a little boutonniere in green and yellow.

Before the program there was a short business hour with reports of officers. Decision was made to meet on the first and third Wednesday afternoons during the coming year. It was also decided to present the ways and means committee with $25.

In retiring from office, Mrs. Wilcox was presented with a basket of flowers by Mrs. R. W. Bolton.

The model club convention opened the program. Following Mrs. Wilcox gave a story, "Teaching Me to Drive." Mrs. Eunice Hopkins entertained with harp solos. Mrs. Gladys Shelton Fisher pleased with vocal solos, accompanied by Mrs. Myrtle Radcliff.

"Mary and Doug Call to Visit the King and Queen of Denmark" was the title of the sketch closing the program. The characters were: Mrs. Boone, king; Mrs. J. A. Boltop, queen; Mrs. C. J. Higgins, Mary Pickford; Mrs. Gallagher, Douglas Fairbanks; Mrs. G. H. Rowe, outer guard and chamberlain.

Entertains Club

The Mid-Week Auction Bridge club members were entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles Sanders, 1320 North Brand boulevard, with a daintily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon and afternoon devoted to cards.

The table appointments were attractively carried out in a pink and white color scheme. Arrangements of Cecil Brunner roses and ferns were also used in the decorative scheme.

After luncheon auction bridge was enjoyed when Mrs. J. P. Hearnshaw was awarded the prize and Mrs. Walter W. Jones the prize for high score. Those present included Mesdames J. A. Appfel, Emma C. Bazz, W. H. Boothby, Arthur H. Dibern, Walter W. Jones, Chester Kling, George B. Pratt, A. Thimm, George P. Smith, H. C. Vandewater and J. P. Hearnshaw and S. E. Allen guests of the club.

Word was also received of the death of Mrs. Ruby Nicholson's mother. Mrs. Nicholson is the chapter's secretary.

DEATHS - FUNERALS

NATHANIEL E. LUCE

Nathaniel E. Luce passed away Tuesday night June 10, 1924, at 9 o'clock at a local hospital as the result of double pneumonia. The following obituary was written by a friend of the family: "Mr. Luce and his wife, who have been making their home for the last four years at Glendale, Arizona, where Mr. Luce was superintendent of the United States Poultry Experiment Station, returned to this city five weeks ago last Sunday for medical treatment for Mr. Luce, who for the past year had been suffering with pernicious anaemia. Everything possible was done for him to facilitate his recovery but without avail until last Tuesday night when he passed into the Great Beyond triumphantly happy that he was 'going home.'"

"Mr. Luce was born June 7, 1864 in Lisle, New York, was married to Violet A. Douglas of Binghamton, N. Y., on January 27, 1891. During the many years they resided in Binghamton, Mr. Luce most efficiently served the city of Binghamton as secretary. In 1917 the Luces came to California in search of better found in their Glendale home on North Maryland avenue and where they lived for eight years.

"Compelled to live largely an outdoor life, Mr. Luce's activities as an expert breeder of thoroughbred poultry, and as a writer and manager of two Pacific coast poultry journals, brought him recognition from our government, in whose employ he had been engaged since before the late war. Recently when he tendered his resignation of his position with the government plant at Glendale, Arizona, the government refused to accept same, saying they considered his services too valuable to lose permanently and they gave him a three months' leave of absence instead.

"During all these years Mr. Luce had called this city his home, and he has retained his membership in our local Presbyterian church. He was a man of high character and integrity. He had a host of friends who valued his acquaintance not only as a keen, honest business man, but because of his sterling worth and true, earnest character. He was known by all as a considerate, helpful neighbor, as a sincere and reliable business comrade, as a loyal and appreciative friend, and as a kind, faithful and loving husband. He is survived by his devoted wife and a sister, Mrs. Leora P. Camp of Long Beach."

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon, June 14, in the Little Church of the Flowers at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

The Jewel City Undertaking company is in charge.

Council Denies Arrests Are Being Made to Gain Additional Funds

the general receipts. Subsequent to the adoption of the budget, the motor vehicle act of 1923 went into effect and required that portion of the revenue from the police court fines resulting from traffic violations to be paid into the fund for the repair and maintenance of streets.

"Regarding your second suggestion, this council will be glad to meet with your committee whenever your committee feels that there are matters relating to traffic conditions which should be brought to the council's attention.

Meet Suggestions

"Regarding your third suggestion, the council feels that the meetings between the council and the traffic committee above provided for will adequately provide for your third suggestion. The council transmitting to the chief of police suggestions adopted by them as a result of such meetings, and the chief at his conferences with his department providing for the carrying out of such suggestions.

"Your fourth suggestion that absolute courtesy be the rule and practice of all officers (as well as arresting officers) meets with the unqualified support of this council, and we believe that this order is not only regularly issued, but that it is strictly obeyed.

"Relative to motorcycle officers patrolling the streets; that is, riding back and forth at all times when on duty, this council believes, on account of the limited number of motorcycle officers available, such procedure to be impractical. The council does not believe that hiding out by officers should be practiced, but it does not believe that a motorcycle officer sitting on his motorcycle on an intersecting street is hiding out, or that it is contrary to either the letter or the spirit of the motor vehicle act.

Controlling Traffic

"The council is in hearty accord with your sixth suggestion, but believe that your suggestion might more aptly read, 'That officers continue the policy of directing and controlling traffic, warning where possible instead of making arrests for technical violations,' as this council believes that such has been the policy, and that such policy has been very generally observed.

"Your seventh suggestion is approved and has at all times been the intention of this council, and further, it is contemplated, if finances permit, to even increase this force.

"Regarding your eighth suggestion, we believe this is a matter which rests entirely in the discretion of the court, and over which, according to our republican form of government, the legislative body has no control, and that no civic body should attempt to dictate to any court regarding the exercise of the discretion placed by law in such court.

Favors Courtesy

"The council approves your ninth suggestion, and appreciates the offer of the Automobile Club of Southern California, through you, to erect these improvements without charge to the city of Glendale.

"The council believes, regarding your tenth suggestion, that strangers in our city should be shown every courtesy, and believes that this is but a reaffirmation of the policy now and heretofore enforced.

"The council believes that there is a great deal of merit in your suggestion regarding boulevard stops, but has not yet been able to arrive at a definite decision regarding the same, but expects to give this matter its earnest consideration.

"Again thanking the committee for its valuable and constructive suggestions, we are "Very truly yours,

"SPENCER ROBINSON,

"SAM DAVIS,

"A. L. GILHULY,

Verdugo Canyon Residents

Discuss Improvements

With Commission

Many property holders in the Verdugo canyon district were present at a meeting of the City Planning commission last night to discuss plans for improvement of the district and to hear the reports of Peter Diederich, superintendent of the city light and water department, on a plan for a water system in the canyon, and that of B. F. Dupuy, city engineer, on the proposed foothill drive east of Verdugo road.

Mr. Diederich recommended that a twelve-inch cast-iron main be installed on Verdugo road to connect with the reservoir at a 1200-foot elevation. Of the 800 acres in the district to be supplied, this main would furnish water to all property up to an elevation of 1150 feet, or about one-half of the total acreage.

The plan for financing the system is an assessment of $1 a running foot on the Verdugo road and frontage, the balance to be distributed on an acreage basis. A committee of five was appointed to seek some means of lowering the cost of installation.

STATE HEAD OF LEGION HERE TO EXPLAIN ORDER

J. F. Collins Directs Work of District, Speaks
Before Clubs

"I am not so interested in a man's service record as I am his ex-service record."
"The greatest danger to this country is from within, not from without."
"We will have to sell the American Legion to ourselves first and the people afterwards."
"Our enemies picture us as a crowd of bonus-grabbing parasites."

With these and other strong statements, James F. Collins, of Long Beach, state commander of the American Legion, and prominent figure in national Legion circles, is in Glendale and vicinity supervising the work of selling the Legion to the public, which is being carried on in the thirty-second district, of which Glendale is a part.

Eugene J. Wix, local attorney, is district chairman and is arranging for Legion speakers to address every luncheon club in the city this week. Dr. E. H. Armstrong spoke at the Exchange Club luncheon Tuesday, and Legion speakers have been invited to attend the meetings of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Optimists clubs.

Sometimes Misjudged
"Like any other organization," said the state commander yesterday afternoon, "we are sometimes misjudged. There is no body of men in the United States today that is doing more to raise the standard of citizenship than the American Legion."

"We do not go around and shout our virtues. We, as a national body see that men about to be naturalized have a proper conception of the oath they are about to take, and endeavor to instill within them a sense of obligation to their adopted country."

"The disabled men have been uppermost in our minds. The

P.T. FEDERATION REVIEWS GROWTH OF ORGANIZATION

Officers Are Installed at Luncheon Conference
By Mrs. Bissell

By KATHERINE V. SINKS

Of The Evening News Staff.

"Keeping Up With Glendale" was the inspiring slogan that won fame for the Glendale Federation. Parent-Teachers association, years ago before the city's phenomenal growth, and yesterday when over 180 Parent-Teacher association officers and friends gathered for a luncheon-conference at the Central Christian church there was every indication that the organization has kept step with "The Fastest Growing City in America."

An annual picnic has been the customary event closing the year's activities, but this year the luncheon-conference was held and was, in the minds of the majority of those present, a very happy and successful innovation.

Artistic Luncheon

The Christian church women, who arranged the luncheon, under the direction of Mrs. Grant, chairman of hospitality for the federation, and chairman of hospitality for the various associations, are to be complimented on the artistic luncheon tables about which the company was seated.

Yellow and white, Parent-Teacher association colors, were effectively expressed in the arrangements of yellow daisies and white Shasta daisies. These colors were also seen in the final luncheon course in the white cake with yellow icing and the yellow and white ice cream.

An honor table had been centrally located in the banquet hall, and about it were seated Mrs. Shelton Bissell, Mrs. E. B. Moore, Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, W. E. Hewitt, Albert D. Pearce, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Mrs. H. V. Henry, Mrs. C. C. Noble, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Richardson D. White, Mrs. George U. Moyle, Floyd Mercer, Katherine V. Sinks and Gertrude Gibbs.

Prayer before luncheon was given by Mr. Mercer, acting pastor of the church.

Mrs. Bissell Speaks
Mrs. Moore was mistress of ceremonies following the luncheon hour. She first introduced Mrs. Shelton Bissell, retiring president of the First District of the Parent-Teacher association, who gave brief greeting and expressed regret that Mrs. J. W. Lee of Long Beach, president elect, was unable to be present.

W. E. Hewitt as president of the Chamber of Commerce spoke on the relation of that body to the Parent-Teacher association. He stressed the part the chamber has had in every movement for the development of the Glendale school system.

Upon being presented Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, president of the Glendale City Teachers' club of 161 members, declared herself to be the godmother of Glendale Parent-Teacher association work. She claims this honor for fostering the organization of the association in 1909.

Lauds Federation
Richardson D. White, whose active interest in Parent-Teacher association affairs is well known, spoke as superintendent of the city schools. He congratulated

Why I Am In Glendale

You ask why I came to Glendale. Let me tell you in a few short sentences: My wife and daughter came here first in search of health, and found it. I continued to shovel snow and coal for three more years, and finally came to visit my family in the winter of 1923. The privilege of enjoying the fragrance of flowers and orange blossoms captivated me, and I soon decided to shovel sunshine the rest of my life, and here I shall stay as long as the good Lord permits me to remain on earth.

TIME ALLOWANCE FOR AUTO CAMP

Plan to Erect Bungalows on Site to Be Probed by
H. C. Vandewater

Members of the West Glendale Protective association this morning filed with the City Council a protest against granting to E. Holland, proprietor of the auto camp at San Fernando road and Riverdale drive, any extension of the time already allowed him for the removal of the camp. The protest stated that Mr. Holland is preparing to erect a series of bungalow courts on the property.

Three demands were made of the council in the protest. These are that the auto camp be eliminated after June 30, the time limit allowed Mr. Holland; that the proposed bungalow courts, if erected, be made to comply with the city ordinances and the state housing laws; and that the auto camp be not allowed to continue operations during the erection of the bungalows.

To Inspect Site
The assertion was made that the bungalows which Mr. Holland proposes to erect will not comply with the city and state statutes, and H. C. Vandewater, city building superintendent, was instructed to inspect the property and to see whether any construction has already been started on the houses, for which, Mr. Vandewater stated, Mr. Holland has not applied for any permits.

Property owners from Sycamore Canyon road presented a map of a proposed assessment district on which it is proposed to levy to secure funds for flood control. It was stated that the county is prepared to build an open conduit to carry off the storm waters, and it is desired to have the conduit roofed over. The county, it is claimed, is ready to bear three-quarters of the cost, and the question now is to provide for the balance of the expense, the property owners declaring their willingness to stand one-eighth of the amount. The matter was referred to the city attorney and the city engineer for consideration and report.

Budget Coming Up
Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, was authorized to prepare the necessary proceedings in connection with the petition for the annexation of a portion of Sparr Heights to the City of Glendale.

A public hearing on the proposed city budget for the coming year will be held by the City Council on June 24 at 10 a. m. E. Johnson, assistant Mayor Spencer Robinson to issue a proclamation urging the people of Glendale to attend the baseball game between the White Sox and the Pacific fleet champions Saturday, June 14, which the Mayor agreed to do.

An amendment to the city ordinance calling the bond election on July 8 was authorized.

Continue Hearing
The hearing on the proposed widening of West Broadway between Central and Pacific avenues was continued for a week and protests on the improvement of Glendale avenue will be heard next Thursday, also.

Bids on the material to be used in the installation of electric lights on Glendale avenue and East Broadway were received and referred to the city attorney, as was the petition to set aside a commercial district on Central avenue between Windsor road and Garfield street.

The request for a permit to erect a market at Sparr Heights, which has been approved by the City Planning Commission, was referred to the city attorney.

PROGRESSIVE REDUCTION OF U. S. TAXES PLEDGED BY PLATFORM OF G. O. P.

Coolidge World Court Plan Meets Approval
Of Convention; Colorado River Flood
Control Survey Urged in Document

CLEVELAND, June 12.—Following is the text of the Republican platform for the coming year.

"We, the delegates of the Republican party, in national convention assembled, bow our heads in reverent memory of Warren G. Harding. His human qualities gripped the affections of the American people. He was a public servant unswerving in his devotion to duty. A staunch Republican. He was first of all a true patriot who gave unstintingly of himself during a trying and critical period of our national life.

"As delegates of the Republican party we share in the national thanksgiving that in the great emergency created by the death of President Harding there stood forth, fully equipped to be his successor, one whom we had nominated as vice president—Calvin Coolidge. As vice-president, and as president, by word and deed, he has justified the faith and confidence which inspired his selection. He has put the public welfare ahead of all other considerations. He has given to the people practical leadership in office. The constantly accumulating evidence of his integrity, vision and single-minded devotion to the needs of the people of this nation, strengthens and inspires our confident faith in his continued leadership.

SITUATION IN 1921.—"When the Republican administration took control of the government in 1921, there were four and a half million unemployed; business was depressed; the securities of the government were selling below their par value. Peace was delayed; misunderstandings and friction characterized our relations abroad.

"Today, industry and commerce are active; public and private credits are sound. We have made peace; we have taken the first step toward disarmament, and strengthened our friendship with the other powers.

PUBLIC ECONOMY.—"We demand, and the people of the United States have the right to demand, rigid economy in government. A policy of strict economy enforced by the Republican administration since 1921 has made possible a reduction in taxation and has enabled the government to reduce the public debt by two and one-half billion dollars. The tax burdens of the people have been relieved to the extent of one billion, two hundred and fifty million dollars per annum. Government securities have been increased in value more than three billion dollars. The budget system has been firmly established. We commend the firm insistence of President Coolidge upon rigid government economy and pledge him our earnest support to this end.

FINANCE AND TAX SITUATION.—"Progressive tax reduction should be accomplished through tax reform. It should not be confined to less than four million of our citizens who pay direct taxes, but the rest of the more than 100,000,000 who are daily paying their taxes, indirectly, through their living expenses. Congress has in the main confined its work to tax reduction. It is still unsettled and is equally essential. We pledge ourselves to the progressive reduction of the taxes of all the people as rapidly as may be done with provision for the essential expenses of the government, administered with rigid economy, and to place our system on a sound peace-time basis. We endorse the plan of President Coolidge to call in November a national conference of federal and state officials for the development of the progressive methods of lightening the tax burdens of our citizens and of adjusting questions of taxation as between the national and state governments.

"We favor the creation by appropriate legislation of a non-partisan federation to make a comprehensive study and report on the tax systems of the state and federal governments, with a view to an intelligent reformation of our systems of taxation to a more equitable basis and a proper adjustment of the subjects of taxation as between the national and state governments, with justice to the taxpayer and in conformity with sound economic principles.

"We favor a comprehensive reorganization of the legislative departments and bureaus along the lines of the plan recently submitted by a joint committee of the Congress, which has the unqualified support of President Coolidge.

CIVIL SERVICE.—"We favor the classification of postmasters in first, second and third class postoffices, and the placing of the prohibition enforcement field force within the classified civil service, without necessarily incorporating the present personnel.

FOREIGN DEBTS.—"We stand for settlements with all the debtor countries similar in character to our debt agreement with Great Britain, achieved under a Republican administration, under the terms of which the United States receives an annual return upon the four billion six hundred million dollars owing to us by Great Britain, with a definite obligation of ultimate payment in full.

THE TARIFF.—"We reaffirm our belief in the protective tariff, in extending needed protection to our productive industries. We believe in protection as a national policy, with due and equal regard to all sections and to all classes. It is only by adherence to such a policy that the well being of the consumers can be safeguarded and that there can be assured to American agriculture, to American labor and to American manufactures a permanence of American standards of life.

"We re-assert our belief in the elastic provision adopted by Congress in the tariff act of 1922, providing for a method of readjustment, in order to meet changing economic conditions, when such changed conditions are brought to the attention of the president.

"We believe that this power to increase or decrease rates, as proposed in the tariff, furnishes a safeguard on the one hand against excessive taxes and on the other hand against too high customs charges.

"We also believe that the application of this provision of the tariff act will contribute to the business stability by making unnecessary general disturbances which are usually incident to tariff revision.

AGRICULTURE.—"In dealing with agriculture, the Republican party recognizes that we are faced with a fundamental national problem and that the prosperity and welfare of the nation as a whole is dependent upon the prosperity and welfare of our agricultural population.

"We recognize that agricultural activities are still struggling with adverse conditions which have brought deep distress. We pledge the party to take whatever steps that are necessary to bring back a balanced condition between agriculture, commerce and labor, that was destroyed by the Democratic party through an unfortunate administration of legislative measures passed as war measures.

"The crux of the problem from the standpoint of the farmer is the net profit he receives after his outlay. The process of bringing the average prices of what he buys and what he sells closer together can be promptly expedited by reduction in taxes, steady employment in industry and employment in business.

"We promise every assistance in the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more economic lines, and where diversification is needed, give assistance during the period of transition. The vigorous efforts of this administration toward broadening the export market will be continued. The Republican party pledges itself to the development and enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industries to insure its prosperity and success.

"We favor adequate tariff protection to such of our agricultural products as are threatened by foreign competition.

"We favor, without putting the government into business, the establishment of a federal reserve system of organization for co-operative marketing of farm products.

HIGHWAYS.—"The federal aid road act, adopted by a Republican Congress in 1921, has been of inestimable value in the development of the highway systems of the states and of the nation. We pledge a continuation of this policy of federal co-operation with the states in highway building.

"We favor construction of roads and trails in our national forests. In appropriations, therefore, the taxes which these lands would pay, if taxable, should be considered as a controlling factor.

LABOR.—"The increasing stress of industrial life, the constant and necessary efforts because of world competition to increase production and decrease costs, has made it specially incumbent on those in authority to prevent labor of undue exactions.

"We commend Congress for having recognized this possibility in its prompt adoption of the recommendation of President Coolidge for a constitutional amendment authorizing Congress to legislate on the question of child labor, and we urge prompt consideration of that amendment by the legislatures of the various states.

"There is no success great enough to justify the employment of women in labor under conditions which will impair their natural functions. We favor high standards for wage workers and living conditions among the women employed in industry. We pledge a continuance of the successful endeavors of the Republican party to eliminate the seven-day, twelve-hour work.

"We declare our faith in the principle of the eight-hour day. We pledge a continuance of the work in rehabilitating, as conducted by the federal reserve board for vocational education, and favor adequate appropriation for this purpose.

"We favor a broader and better system of vocational education, a more adequate system of federal free employment agencies, with facilities for assisting the movements of seasonal and migratory labor, including farm labor, with

Kenyon Refuses to Halt Court When Told About Offer

ST. PAUL, June 12.—Judge William S. Kenyon refused to halt a case in United States circuit court of appeals today when informed by International News Service that President Coolidge had asked that he be nominated for vice president.

"This is an important case," he told International News Service. "I will take the matter up when I leave the bench at 12:30."

The judge was informed that the nomination was asked by President Coolidge and that the Cleveland convention was waiting for word from him.

ample organization for bringing the man and the job together.

RAILROADS.—"We relieve the demand of the American people for improved railway service at cheaper rates is justified and that it can be fulfilled by the consolidation of the railroads into a lesser number of competing systems.

"The labor board provision should be amended to meet the requirements made evident by the experience gained from its actual operation. Collective bargaining, voluntary mediation and arbitration are the most important steps in maintaining peaceful labor relations. We do not believe in compulsory action of any kind.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL.—"The prosperity of the American nation rests on the vigor of its private initiative, which has bred a spirit of independence and self-reliance. The Republican party stands now, as always, against all attempts to put the government into business. American industry should not be compelled to struggle against government competition. The right of the government to regulate and supervise public utilities in the public interest we believe should be strengthened, but we are firmly opposed to the nationalization or government ownership of public utilities.

COAL.—"The price and a constant supply of this essential commodity are of vital interest to the public. When, through union conflict, the supply is threatened, the president should have authority to appoint a committee to act as mediators and as a medium for voluntary arbitration. In the event of a strike, the control and distribution must be invoked to prevent profiteering.

WATERWAYS, FLOOD CONTROL AND WATER POWER.—"We favor the construction of the most feasible waterways from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf of Mexico, and the improvement and development of rivers, harbors and waterways, inland and coastwise, to the fullest extent justified by the present and potential tonnage available.

"We favor a comprehensive survey of the conditions under which the flood waters of the Colorado river may be controlled, and utilized for the benefit of the people of the states which border thereon.

"The federal water power act establishes a national water power policy and the way has thereby been opened for the greatest water power development in our history under conditions which preserve the initiative of our people, yet protect the public interest.

THE WORLD WAR VETERANS.—"The Republican party pledges a continuing and increasing solicitude for all those suffering any disability as a result of service to the United States in time of war.

"The confusion, inefficiency and maladministration existing heretofore since the establishment of this government agency have been cured and plans are being actively made looking to a further improvement in the operation of the bureau by the passage of new legislation.

"We pledge ourselves to meet the problems of the future affecting the care of our wounded and disabled in a spirit of liberality and with that thoughtful consideration which will enable the government to give to the individual veteran that full measure of care guaranteed by an effective administration machinery.

CONSERVATION.—"We believe in the development, effective and efficient, whether it be of the coal or water power resources of the government, only as needed and only after the public need has become a matter of public record, controlled with a scrupulous regard and ever vigilant safeguards against waste, speculation and monopoly.

"The natural resources of the country belong to all the people, and are a part of an estate belonging to generations yet unborn. The government policy should be to safeguard, develop and utilize those possessions. The conservation policy of the nation originated with the Republican party under the inspiration of Theodore Roosevelt.

"We hold it a privilege of the Republican party to build as a memorial to him on the foundation of his life.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING IN TIME OF WAR.—"We believe that in time of war the nation should draft for its defense not only its citizens but also every resource which may contribute to success, such material resources and such services as may be required, and to stabilize the prices of service and essential commodities, whether utilized in actual warfare or private activities.

IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION.—"We favor the adoption of methods which will exert a helpful influence among the foreign-born population, and provide for the education of the alien in our language, customs, ideals and standards of life. We favor the improvement of our naturalization laws.

PHILIPPINES.—"The Philip-

IMPROVE ROAD IN TUJUNGA CANYON

Swimming Pool Is Built on Hansen Ranch, Benefit to Many Hikers

TUJUNGA, June 12.—United States Forest Ranger Barrett reports that a crew of men are at work improving the county road into Big Tujunga canyon. This is the old road, Mr. Barrett says, and as far as he has observed no work has been done on a new route into the canyon, although a survey is to be made for a road that will follow a course higher up than the present one.

A new swimming pool has been built on the Hansen ranch, ten miles up the canyon. Many of the hikers go into the Big Tujunga camp at Hansen's, and the pool has been added to their accommodations for their benefit.

In addition there is to be a refreshment stand built at the first crossing by the proprietors of Wildwood Lodge, which is located about six miles up the canyon on a ninety-acre tract.

PICTURE the number of people that in a year's time mount your steps, and cross your porch! This heavy traffic makes obvious the need of a tough, elastic and durable paint that will withstand severe usage. ## THREE DISTINCT FEATURES SHOWN AT CONVENTION

Opposition to Radicals in Congress; Coolidge to Dictate Platform

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CLEVELAND, June 12.—The Republican national convention has developed these three distinct characteristics thus far:

First—That there should be no catering to the radicals and La Follette group, no compromises, no attitude which begs support, nothing but a polite and tolerant indifference.

Second—That the Republican record in Congress and the individualists who have messed up the legislative program should not lead the party here or guide its councils, but should be in the background while the Coolidge management proclaims the party purposes and policies.

Third—That the Republican platform shall be in accord with what Mr. Coolidge wants it to be on all controversial questions, including the soldier bonus, the world court and agricultural problems.

Dodge La Follette

Taking up these points in order, one finds that the movement which originated in Wisconsin to have the convention here adopt resolutions pledging all the delegates in advance to support whoever is nominated will not be followed through for the simple reason that to have such a battle with the La Follette group means the proposal on their part of a substitute resolution asking the party to repudiate Albert B. Fall and Harry M. Daugherty. This would lead to an open breach in which the radicals would embarrass the convention as a whole and give the Wisconsin group the excuse they are aching for, to desert the Republican party in favor of an independent ticket.

Instead, the regulars from Wisconsin believe it is far more satisfactory from the viewpoint of party strategy to let the La Follette delegates sit throughout the Republican convention as Republicans so that the impulse in bolting will come from that side rather than the majority.

The regulars recognize the La Follette insurgency as inevitable and as irreconcilable. They will do nothing to placate it. On the other hand, there is a growing desire to treat it with defiance and boldly proclaim conservatism as a virtue. Such a note would unquestionably strike an enthusiastic response in this convention which already regards party infidelity with contempt. There also is the feeling that since Senator La Follette has made up his mind to run, nothing would be gained by giving his followers an exaggerated importance in the convention point, might be to their advantage later on.

Show Independence

As for the "old guard" and congress, the Coolidge leaders are playing for a public impression of independence. They want the people who are resentful of congressional inefficiency to realize that the party as a whole has no sympathy with it. Under the circumstances the effort to make the platform to accord with the president's speeches and address to congress is proceeding smoothly without without interference from the congressional leaders, many of whom are astute enough politicians to appreciate that perhaps with the unpopularity of congress the strategy of the Coolidge managers may not be unwise after all.

No Pride in Bonus

On the soldier bonus, the platform will not "point with pride" to the adjusted compensation bill which congress passed, but will content itself with a general declaration of satisfaction over what the Republican party has done for the veterans of the world war, especially the disabled men, and there probably will be an expression of gratitude about the veterans generally so as to offset some of the criticism leveled at the president in his recent veto message on the bonus when he said, in effect, that the government owed the soldiers and sailors nothing for their services in the war.

On agricultural questions, no specific measure will be advocated, but a principle of helpfulness will be enunciated.

The platform has been drafted—its first draft was made in Washington. Congressional leaders who have been consulted about it and cabinet members who have read it speak of it as a rather lengthy document, but the platformers have to be now-days to encompass all the subjects which must be included to satisfy the various elements in the electorate, including the women voters.

Liberal Platform

When the platform is finished it will be described by its proponents as liberal and progressive without any note of impractical radicalism. It will contain no startling pronouncements, but will simply be a reiteration of Coolidge doctrines as heretofore expounded.

The vice presidential situation is truly up to the delegates themselves. The choice will be made on the floor after the nominating speeches are made, and it would not be surprising to see a number of complimentary votes given to various Republicans in order to feel out the sentiment of the convention. The Illinois delegation has voted to petition former Governor Lowden to reconsider his refusal to run. The plan has been conservatism."

"You simply cannot think of him as soft or flabby."

"He seems the epitome of sheer self-control."

"To him, the home is our most sacred institution."

"He is a human being."

"He is an impractical idealist."

"As self-respecting individuals."

He said Dr. Burton, in concluding, "we can trust this man. As lovers of America, we can follow any who is supremely American. As citizens with interests as broad as humanity, we can accept his guidance into new and larger world leadership, because at heart he is a human being."

"To the national convention of the greatest party in American history I have the distinction to present as candidate to succeed himself as president of the United States of America—the virile man, the staunch American, the real human being, Calvin Coolidge."

On the world court, the Coolidge-Harding-Hughes idea of American membership in the world court created by the League of Nations will prevail.

No Pride in Bonus

On the soldier bonus, the platform will not "point with pride" to the adjusted compensation bill which congress passed, but will content itself with a general declaration of satisfaction over what the Republican party has done for the veterans of the world war, especially the disabled men, and there probably will be an expression of gratitude about the veterans generally so as to offset some of the criticism leveled at the president in his recent veto message on the bonus when he said, in effect, that the government owed the soldiers and sailors nothing for their services in the war.

which is 'apparently absurd yet true.' Anyone will tell you he is 'one of us' and he is. I shall make no effort to exalt him for he does not need it. He is not a superman and would be the last to think so. There is not a trace of show or ostentation about him, for he does nothing merely for appearance. He may be an example, but he would never set one. He personifies the plain, simple virtues of our citizenship at their best.

Credit to America

"He has moral fiber. To me, it is his most distinguishing characteristic. There is a moral grandeur about him which does credit to American life. He helps one to understand that righteousness has an actual place in the world. With him there is no compromise. There is 'no substitute for virtue.' When he knows what is right he follows it with resistless logic and persistent endeavor. He can be trusted."

Frugality is a part of his being. He inherited it from the background out of which he came. He actually believes that 'civilization rests on conservatism.' To him waste is a vicious betrayal of our country, while thrift is the constructive force which assures a strong future. He believes there is urgent necessity the world over for actual retrenchment in the use of public funds. His insistence upon tax reduction and tax reform illustrate emphatically the practical application of his sense of thrift.

To him, life is work. He grew up with the idea that hard work is the normal and desirable lot of every one. It is an ingrained part of his being.

Sees Life As Whole

"In the largest sense of the term, he is a patient man. He knows that time will do its perfect work. He does not judge conditions or civilizations or governments in terms of a day, a month or a year. He instinctively takes the long look. He makes a calm, unhurried, steady approach to the tasks of life. No one can throw him into a panic for he sees life steadily and sees it whole. Any man in the turmoil of practical politics must deal with many conflicting forces. He cannot please everyone. Therefore, some, for the time, become hostile and critical. This man, in a very remarkable way, takes his punishment quietly and silently. He knows that time will heal the hurt. He will not be hurried. He knows how to wait and not be tired by waiting. When he acts you know he will not be impetuous because he takes time to think to the soul of things. Democracy, in her careless, blundering confidence, is in dire need of such leadership."

Has a Sense of Humor

"Has he a sense of humor? Emphatically, yes. It is not the type that wastes time in recounting incidents of ever-increasing triteness. He is not given to hilarity."

Religious Beliefs

"His religious convictions center about a few great words—humility, sacrifice, renunciation, service. His remarkable speech of Memorial day this year was actually built around the idea of renunciation.

"It may be well to read these challenging words of his with special attention to the order and emphasis: 'There are two fundamental motives which inspire human action. The first and most important is that of righteousness. There is that in mankind, stranger than all else which requires them to do right. When that requirement is satisfied the next motive is that of gain.'

"Here, then, is the man. What America must learn is precisely what this man is saying so clearly and forcefully. It has a ring to it which will permeate the world. He has been successful in politics because he has been simply and unswervingly honest. The first mark of a public servant is not solely the desire to know what the people want but the purpose to help the people want what they ought to have. America needs this man in this hour and the world needs America."

Is Real American

"He reverences our past. Therefore, he believes in history and a thorough knowledge of that past. He represents 'that conservatism which is the strength of all civilization.'

"He knows that progress will require hard, unrelenting toil. To him a better future means continuous struggle and presents a constant challenge. He is no day-dreamer for he knows the stern realities of a work-a-day world. In the fullest sense of the term his conservatism is remarkably progressive."

The question of law observance in our country today simply cannot be ignored. Our liberties have been purchased at great sacrifices, but it is amazing how cheaply some would barter them away. This man writes: 'The sole guarantee of liberty is of obedience to law under the forms of ordered government.' There is no mistaking where he stands."

"His fervent love of America has made him an out-and-out nationalist. He cannot look with composure upon any plan or proposal which would limit, directly or by inference, the independence of America. No man need doubt where he stands."

"Without any hesitation he asserts: 'It is the record of history that the nations follow their interests. We shall follow ours.' That is clearcut and unequivocal."

The Human Being

"Three: The Human Being. He has unlimited confidence in the people. He actually proceeds upon the conviction, as Thomas Hooker put it, that 'The foundation of authority is laid firmly in the free consent of the people.'"

"Consistent with this point of view, he actively supported the change to the direct election of United States senators."

"Likewise, when he was in the Senate of his own state, he actively supported the mothers' relief bill, and as governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1919, he signed the forty-eight-hour bill designed to safeguard the vital interests of women and children."

"When writing of Andrew Carnegie, he said that 'A great man

Lunch Interrupts Coolidge Hearing Nominating Speech

WASHINGTON, June 12.—President Coolidge was eating his luncheon at the White House as usual today while he was being nominated at Cleveland.

The president tuned in Cleveland on his radio set during part of Dr. Marion Leroy Burton's nominating speech, but for as Mr. Burton was concluding it was announced that luncheon was served.

Mr. Coolidge turned off the radio and went into the dining room, where Mrs. Coolidge joined him. White House attaches told him later that he had been nominated.

comes from the evolution of a great mother."

"He knows that no great man was ever meanly born. I ask you, in sober, serious moments, can you doubt the seriousness of this man's thought or question his real appreciation of women's place in America? Herein we find conclusive evidence that he is a human being and we find it in forms both practical and ideal. No one can fail to be gripped by his depths of human understanding."

A second deduction from his fundamental confidence in the people makes clear that the integrity of the nation is a supreme consideration, that sectionalism and class distinctions are intolerable in a true American, that groups must co-operate rather than engage in bitter conflict and particularly that capital and labor must, for the sake of both and the public welfare, pool their interests and work together as human beings. In all these complicated problems he never fails to emphasize the fundamental fact that human beings are supreme. In his home state organized labor was interested in the modification of labor injunctions. In keeping with the wishes of the employees the desired results were brought about without any invasion of the fundamental law principles involved. As early as 1912 he supported the full crew bill for the railways."

Industry For People

"On the side of logic and theory his position is equally clear and his attitude through a long period of years has won for him the entire confidence of both capital and labor. He believes firmly in the value and right to organize."

He asks us to remember 'that the benefit of industry, but industry is created for the benefit of the people.'

"If he is the great human being whom we have said he is, then the argument must of necessity eliminate in establishing that he has a clearly-defined world view of this there is abundant evidence. We may well begin with the great question of war. It is the problem of civilization today. Any man who believes what he evidently does must be opposed to war as such. So we heard him exclaiming, 'We want no more war. But he is no impractical idealist. No, he advocates adequate machinery preparedness by sea and land."

"Does he recognize our duty to mankind and our obligations of world leadership? It seems strange that such an issue need be raised."

Quotes from Speeches

Mr. Burton at this point quoted extensively from President Coolidge's speeches on foreign policies.

"He was and is an ardent advocate of the Washington conferences. He believes unquestionably in the eternal value of mutual discussion."

"Even more specifically he boldly supports the proposal for a world court. He would adjust and minimize the disagreements between nations by methods of reason and justice."

As self-respecting individuals we can trust this man."

"As lovers of America we can follow one who is supremely American. As citizens with interests as broad as humanity we can accept his guidance into new and larger world leadership because he is at heart a human being."

"To the national convention of the greatest party in American history I have the distinction to present as candidate to succeed himself as president of the United States States, the virile man, the staunch American, the real human being, Calvin Coolidge."

UNANIMOUS VOTE IS PREVENTED BY WISCONSIN'S ACT

Vote Is Coolidge 1,065, Johnson 10, La Follette 34 on Roll Call

yelled their vote in defiance of the hisses that came from the floor and galleries.

When South Dakota was reached, her delegation decided to stay by their primary instructions, and vote for Hiram Johnson—ten votes. More hisses and some laughter.

Every eye in the great hall was on Wisconsin when the secretary called the state. The chairman said:

"Twenty-eight votes for Robert Marion La Follette, one vote for Calvin Coolidge."

Again the storm of hissing and boos and cat calls. When the secretary announced the total vote as Coolidge 1,065, La Follette 34 and Johnson 10, the chairman of the South Dakota delegation got the platform and said that South Dakota, having kept its primary pledge, was willing to make it unanimous. Delegate Scott, the only Wisconsin delegate, also moved to make it unanimous, but the twenty-eight loyal La Follette delegates gave a chorus of "noes" on the vote.

After a night of strenuous work on the telephone and telegraph wires, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, succeeded in convincing administration leaders here an hour before the platform was opened this morning that he absolutely, positively and emphatically would not consent to run for the vice-presidency.

Boom for Curtis

Elect Curtis! This was the word passed around among the leaders here today as the delegates assembled in the auditorium to nominate Coolidge to succeed himself in the White House.

Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, at the hour of convening seemed to be having a walkaway of the vice-presidential race.

Even while the prayer was going out over the heads of the delegates, word passed around the convention hall that fourteen agricultural states had been lined up for Curtis.

"He's in," whispered one of the leaders, while trying to look solemn.

The roll was then called for reports from the various states on their election of a national committeeman and national committeewoman.

The reading of the names of the national committee was accompanied by applause as well-known names came before the delegates.

Negroes Honored

Henry Lincoln Johnson, the first negro to ever sit on the national committee, was re-elected, as were many other old-timers.

Another negro gained a place on the national committee when the name of Perry W. Howard was confirmed as committeeman from Mississippi. Howard is an assistant attorney-general of the United States.

Yells and some cat calls greeted the announcement of Wisconsin's members.

Nominates Coolidge

Governor Channing H. Cox of Massachusetts, was recognized. He moved that Dr. Burton be accorded the privilege of placing in nomination the candidate of Massachusetts.

Dr. Burton was frequently interrupted with applause. "I like your applause," he said, "but I wish you'd keep still."

When Dr. Burton finished at 12:30 his collar was a wilted rag and the perspiration poured down his face in a steady stream.

A Coolidge demonstration started immediately.

"On behalf of Massachusetts," said chairman Mondell, "Dr. Burton has placed in nomination Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts."

"In the absence of any other nomination, the chairman will

MAKES HONEYMOON TRIP IN OAKLAND CAR

SEPARATION OF GRADES IS URGED

Immense Cost of Changes Is Bar to Immediate Accomplishment

By DAVID R. FARRIS
General Counsel Automobile Club of Southern California

Grade crossings of railways and vehicular highways must be eliminated. Immediate substantial relief by the separation of the grades at such crossings is, however, not to be hoped for. The time and money involved are so stupendous as to be almost prohibitive. The elimination of extra hazardous crossings should, of course, proceed by mutual cooperation of the state, the county, the municipality and the railroad as rapidly as finances will permit. In the meantime, we should do all we can to prevent the useless loss of life and suffering that occurs at railroad crossings.

During 1923 there were 2,263 fatalities and 6,314 injuries to persons at crossings of the railways and highways in the United States. Of these accidents, 84 per cent involved the use of motor vehicles, 8 per cent occurred to the occupants of other vehicles and 8 per cent to pedestrians.

Placing Blame
Heedless, thoughtless, reckless and drunken drivers are responsible for the great majority of the casualties occurring at grade crossings in collisions between automobiles and trains. The old proverb that "he who hesitates is lost" doesn't apply to the motorist of THIS side of a railroad crossing. The NEAR side of a railroad crossing is the safe side. A moment's hesitation long enough to enable the driver to look in both directions frequently means the difference between safety and death or serious injury.

The heedless, thoughtless, reckless or drunken driver speeds on over the iron rails without a look to the right or left but the careful driver hesitates and, if necessary, stops to assure himself of the safety of the crossing before venturing across the train tracks.

He who hesitates at grade crossings is safe.

ADVANCE IS PREDICTED IN PRICE

Need for Readjustment Seen in Industry; Costs of Selling Increase

(From Automotive Industries)

It looks as if car prices would go up. There may be a general advance about July 1 or shortly thereafter. That is the conclusion which may be reached from a study of the present economic situation of the industry as a whole and from statements made recently by prominent executives. There are sound reasons for this trend.

Conditions within the industry indicate a need for some readjustment all along the line. Manufacturers seem to have staked too much on the power of quantity production to reduce costs. If selling were an automatic process and demand did not vary, increased quantity would continue to reduce costs indefinitely. But car buying does vary considerably. A point seems to have been reached at which the cost of selling additional output has mounted so high as to offset any further manufacturing economies which might be obtained.

For a long while profits increased in proportion to volume. Then the tide began to turn and greater output failed to bring greater returns to the treasury in many instances. It has become necessary to consider a large number of factors in seeking profits. Volume production alone won't do the trick.

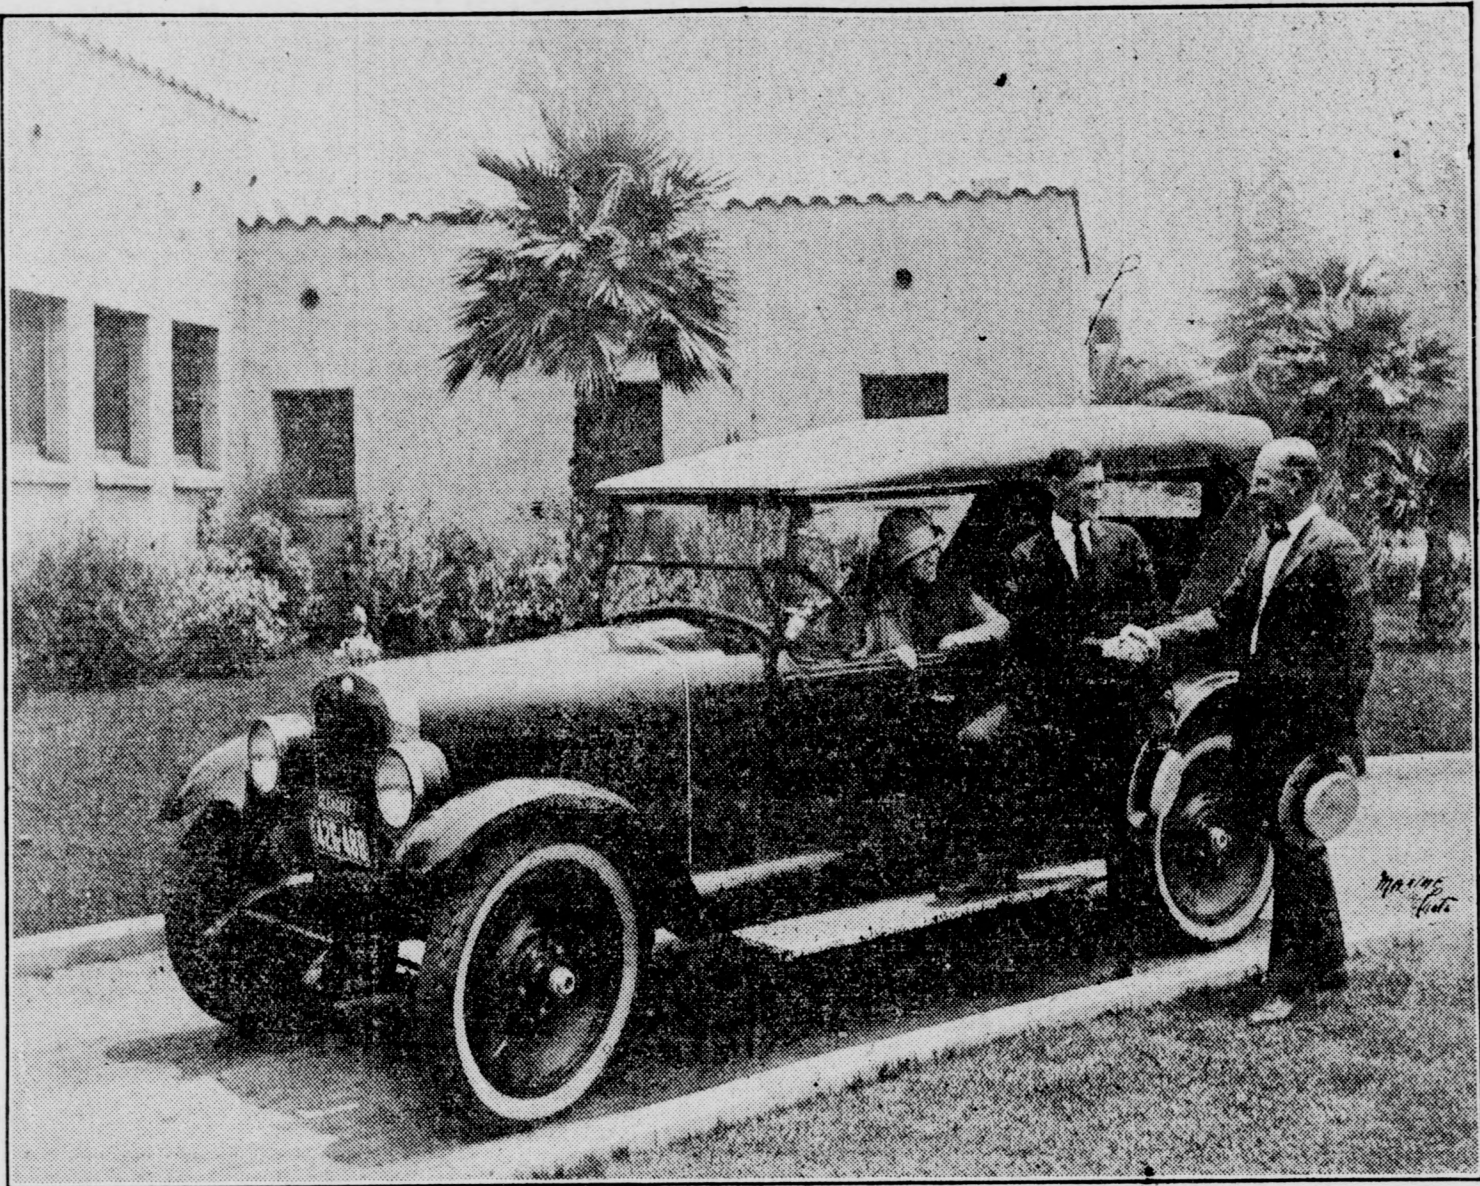

The effect of slightly higher prices on sales is difficult to judge beforehand. Whether or not so many cars are sold is not nearly so important as whether profits are made. One car sold at a profit to the manufacturer, the distributor and the dealer does more for the purpose of the industry than do three cars sold at a loss to one or another of these distributing agencies.

Somewhat higher car prices should give the parts makers a better chance to make a reasonable profit on products sold to the vehicle builders for use as original equipment. It is common knowledge that many such units are bought today for cost or less than cost, the parts maker depending on the replacement market to reimburse him for his

Bidding Bridal Party Farewell

1,200 MILE JAUNT MADE BY GENERAL MANAGER OF AGENCY AND HIS BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ricketts Tell of Wonders to Be Found Around Clear Lake Highlands And Along Inland and Coast Route

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

A honeymoon trip of nearly 1,200 miles, taking in many scenic spots in California, to a land of enchantment where fishing is always good, where the cool breezes from pine forests waft across the mirror-like surface of an inviting lake, and back along the coast route with the majestic mountains on one side and the swirling waves on the other hand—this is the trip which comprises the travelogue this week.

The route covered by the honeymoon travelogue car, without any side trips, counts up 1,131 miles.

The northbound route is through the San Joaquin valley by way of Bakersfield and Fresno, to Clear Lake Highlands, while the return trip is down the coast route.

Makes Honeymoon Trip
Making the honeymoon travelogue trip were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ricketts, who were wed June 2 at the home of Rev. Philip K. Kemp.

Mr. Ricketts is general manager for the Oakland agency, now owned by John Neuschaffer, at 420 East Colorado street.

Mrs. Ricketts formerly was Miss Ruth Hill, and is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Hill of Harrington Park, N. J.

The car used on the trip is Mr. Ricketts' new Oakland Six touring car shown in the accompanying photograph. Letters received by Mr. Neuschaffer from Mr. Ricketts since the bridal party left on the trip brings information that the Oakland has proved its worth in mastering the hills encountered en route, and motor trouble has not made any appearance.

Follow Inland Route
The honeymoon car, leaving Glendale, followed the San Fernando valley road passed the valley's leading town, thence on to Lebec and continued to Bakersfield, where a stop was made for lunch.

From Bakersfield the honeymooners traveled through Tulare, Fresno and many towns along the line, reaching Merced the night of the first day out. An over-night stop was made at Merced and the run into Clear Lake Highlands was completed before sundown the following day.

From Merced the travelogue car continued northward by way of Stockton, Oakland, Vallejo, St. Helena and Lower Lake, making only brief stops in the principal towns and cities along the route.

Find Beautiful Spot
At Clear Lake Highlands the honeymooners found an ideal camping spot. Clear Lake Highlands is noted throughout the state as one of the best fishing grounds and hunting spots in California and a place where beauty abounds.

Mr. Ricketts is a member of the popular rod and gun club which has its headquarters at Clear Lake Highlands, and also owns considerable property fronting on the lake.

Trout, bass, perch and blue channel catfish abound in the lake, while around the shores and deep in the forests that line the body of water are found many old Indian relics. Looking for Indian arrowheads is one of the popular camp sports and exceeded only by fishing.

Clear Lake has a historical as well as a romantic setting. Between Clear Lake Highlands and Lower Lake still stands one of the earliest used stage coaches in the state, which formerly operated on an old toll road that skirted a nearby mountain.

A little over fifty miles from the lake is found a petrified forest, where some wonderful specimens of petrified wood are accessible.

The return route will be by way of San Francisco and the coast route, touching at such cities as Santa Rosa, Redwood City, San Jose, Paso Robles, San Luis Obispo, Santa Maria, Santa Barbara, Ventura and Fillmore, striking the San Fernando road at Castale and followed down the valley to their home city.

Mr. Ricketts is a well known insurance broker and has been

Willis-Overland Agency Passes to Control of Single Partner

B. W. Sloan has purchased the interest of Geo. T. Smith in the firm of Smith-Sloan, Inc., local Overland and Willis-Knight dealers, 228 South Brand boulevard and the business will now be conducted under the name of B. W. Sloan, Inc.

Mr. Sloan has been a member of the firm for the past year and before entering the local field was in the automobile business in the east for a number of years, handling the same line of cars. He is known among his fellow dealers as a man of clean character and one whose business methods are open and above board at all times.

A rapidly increasing growth of business has necessitated larger quarters and this firm will move about July 1 to their new location at 905 South Brand boulevard. Public announcement of the opening of this addition to Glendale's automobile row will be made shortly.

THREE NEEDS IN RIDING COMFORT

Watson Stabilators Furnish Increased Pleasure, Is Dealer's Claim

The three conditions that govern riding comfort, according to Wm. H. Hooper, East Broadway and Louise street, agent for the Watson Stabilators, are the soft, supple spring action over smooth pavement, the ability of the car to keep up with the rapidity of spring action, and powerful recoil control.

"Spring action must be entirely unrestricted and unhampered," says Mr. Hooper, for, if the springs are tied down, the car will ride little better than a wagon with no springs at all. In traveling over rough surfaces, such as ridged and buckled asphalt, it is essential to have something to control the repeated upthrow of the springs, which is where the second condition enters, and not only must this control be powerful but it must take effect at the very beginning of the recoil movement, compelling a gentle return of the springs to normal and not stopping the upthrow with a sudden jerk.

"These conditions are furnished in perfect measure by the Watson Stabilators," he claims, "and the comfort that every motorist has a right to expect is assured over every kind of road surface, enabling the car to travel on a comparatively even plane, while the wheels follow the uneven plane of the road."

The recent reduction of 25 per cent in the price of Watson Stabilators, Mr. Hooper declares, has vastly stimulated the sale of these accessories, and their use is rapidly becoming more general on all makes of automobiles.

State Heads Greet Foreign Delegates

Governors of five states welcomed, on behalf of their respective commonwealths, the thirty-eight delegates from Latin-American countries who, during June, are to make a field study of highways and highway transportation in the United States as guests of the Highway Education Board.

SMALL HOIST

Compressed air operated, a hoist of but 500 pounds capacity has been designed for use in places where a more powerful device of the kind would be too expensive.

Auto Control Brings Many Municipal Laws

The automobile has been productive of more municipal legislation of late than any other object. New York now requires that all drivers undergo an examination of their ability at the wheel. Across country, San Francisco has a city ordinance preventing "jay walking."

Topaz either is colorless or in many shades of red, blue, green or yellow.

MEN ARE FACTOR IN CAR BUILDING

Personal Element Is Vital Need In Turning Out Good Automobiles

"There are many factors that enter into the building of an automobile that earns the endorsement of the motoring public, as the Maxwell car has done since Walter P. Chrysler introduced the present model, and of these the personal element is the one that exercises the greatest effect on the standing of the car," is the opinion of Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, distributors of the Maxwell and Chrysler cars.

"The Maxwell car is built of the finest materials it is possible to buy," says Mr. Clark. "Alloy steels such as are used in the finest cars, axles sturdy enough for a truck, and a front axle that is tough enough to stand three complete twists, as Maxwell axles have proven, without showing a sign of any fracture. The inspection and tests that every part of the Maxwell is submitted to make for perfection, and the result is a car that has established itself in popular favor as few other cars have done in the history of the industry."

"But there is a still more important factor and that is the men who make the car. When Walter P. Chrysler assumed the direction of the Maxwell Motors Corporation he drew to himself many of the men who had worked with him in his previous places, where he laid the foundations of his reputation. These men came and others, experts in automotive work, quickly followed them, until today Chrysler has built up an organization of men who know him, who have faith in him, and who take pride in working for the plant of which he is the head."

"These men know automobiles and their manufacture, and they want to work only for the concerns that maintain a high standard in their output, the kind of cars that they can take a pride in pointing to as something in which they have had a part, and it is the fine character of these men that makes the Maxwell organization one that has built one of the outstanding values in the automotive industry today."

party the church organist played the Lohengrin Wedding march.

Elaborate Gowns
Miss Woodell was attended as maid of honor by her sister, Miss Florence Woodell. She wore an orchid georgette crepe gown trimmed with silver lace. It was made sleeveless in back effect and she wore an orchid silk hat and short white kid gloves.

Miss Elaine Atkins was the bridesmaid and she also wore an orchid shaded silk frock with hat to match and short white kid gloves. Instead of carrying bouquets the bridesmaid and maid of honor carried a wand wound in silk in orchid and white and tied with large ribbon bows.

Miss Woodell presented a pleasing picture as she entered the church with Alfred Southern who gave her in marriage. She wore a beautiful white silk bridal gown made sleeveless and trimmed with silver lace. Her wedding veil was fastened in place with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Wedding Breakfast
R. E. Olin attended Mr. Hutchinson as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Sunset Canyon Country club at 1 o'clock. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hutchinson and Miss Elaine Atkins, Miss Florence Woodell, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Olin, Miss Edith Alt, Alfred Southern, Stanley Walker, Miss Faith Terling, Miss Jean Martin, Mr. and Mrs. William Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spink, Mrs. Connie Bloodgood, Mrs. French, Mrs. Clara Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sullivan, Miss Evelyn Young.

The bridal table was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns and dainty place cards designed with tiny cupids marking the guests' places.

Motor Honeymoon
Later Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson left by motor for a two weeks' trip. They will visit Mexico, San Francisco and Yosemite. Upon their return they will be at home to their many friends at 1206 Crescent Drive, Glendale Heights.

Mrs. Hutchinson came to Los Angeles from England nearly a year ago. She and her sister, Miss Florence Woodell, made their home together in Los Angeles at 1311 1/2 Mohawk street.

Mr. Hutchinson has a host of friends here having been associated in business for some time with R. E. Olin, under the firm name, Olin & Hutchinson, accountants, with offices at 150 South Brand boulevard.

HOLIDAY SEASON CALLS FOR AUTO

Chevrolet Solves Vacation's Biggest Problem, Says Local Dealer

Vacation days are rapidly approaching, and the way in which the weather in this immediate vicinity has been warming up for the last few days is causing the holiday germ to grow and flourish in the systems of many people in Glendale, according to C. L. Smith, Chevrolet dealer, Orange and Colorado streets, who claims that the one really necessary adjunct for the right kind of a Southern California vacation is a Chevrolet.

"To get to the real good fishing grounds," says Mr. Smith, who is a devotee of the rod himself, "you must have a car. With any kind of a Chevrolet, either touring car, roadster or closed model, you can pile your camp kit and fishing tackle into it, and follow the road wherever you want to go. The Chevrolet will tackle the roughest kind of going and negotiate it with ease; it is built to stand hard wear, it is economical in the consumption of oil and gasoline, and it throws open to its owner the wonderful country that makes up Southern California, with all its beauties and with new spots of interest beckoning the motorist every day."

"But the services of the Chevrolet are not confined to the vacation season. It is a year round servant that has a character to maintain, reputation for faith, uncompromising service that appeals strongly to the man who needs economical transportation at a low initial cost, and that yet presents itself equally strongly to the man or woman whose first consideration is pride in the style and appearance of the car."

CAR APPEALS TO WOMEN AUTOISTS

Buick 4 Combines Economy of Operation and Ease of Driving, Claim

A car that appeals irresistibly to the woman motorist, according to Ray L. Galvin, sales manager of Tanner & Hall, Ltd., Buick distributors, South Brand boulevard and Maple street, is the Buick Four, whether in the open or the closed models, as it not only fills a woman's idea of what a really good looking car should be but it permits economy of operation, unrivalled quality of performance, and runs with the minimum of trouble.

"Another aspect that appeals to the woman driver," he continued "is the nation-wide Buick service that is available. This service is not spasmodic nor is it given grudgingly. The Buick organization is established to render service to Buick owners, primarily, and the members of the organization take a pride in seeing that these cars are maintained in perfect condition. Fair treatment to every automobile owner is the cardinal principle of this service, no matter what kind of car he may be driving, but the ideal combination of a Buick car and Buick service is one that cannot be surpassed anywhere."

The ability of the Buick Four to deliver the goods under any and every motoring condition is abundantly evidenced by the testimonials, both written and oral, that Tanner & Hall are constantly receiving. These reports cover every phase of motoring from long, hard cross-country trips, to year in and year out service over city streets, where traffic congestion, with its continual strain on the driver's intelligence and quickness of thought, tests both owner and car to the limit.

connected with insurance business for a number of years. Before coming to Glendale he was assistant manager for J. Mather & Co., big New York insurance brokers, with his headquarters in New York city. Before his brother, Thomas Ricketts, disappeared of the Oakland agency to Mr. Neuschaffer, John Ricketts was associated with him, and after the change was made he became general manager for Mr. Neuschaffer.

Mr. Ricketts will continue his insurance business in connection with the Oakland agency upon his return. Mr. Neuschaffer has announced that more attention will be paid to the insurance end of the business in the future and a general line of policies in keeping with automobile insurance will be available.

Mr. Neuschaffer, while only recently acquiring the Oakland agency, is not a newcomer in Glendale. He drove to Glendale from Providence, R. I., last September in an Oakland car, and was general manager for Thomas Ricketts before the change in ownership was made. While in the east he was connected with the Oakland Sales company at Providence, and has been in the automobile selling game a number of years.

losses and to return a profit besides. Tires, piston rings, spark plugs, and lately bumpers and other accessories, are being sold on terms which return little if any profit to the company which builds them.

Such a condition cannot continue indefinitely. It is not in line with sound economic principles and some day must be changed. Its existence at present is one which is pressing toward higher car prices.

The public gets more for its money today when it buys an automobile than when it buys any other product. At the end of 1923 the purchasing power of the automobile dollar was 111 cents, 1913 values being used as a base. This compared with 51.8 cents for clothing, 61.2 cents for rents, 98 cents for livestock, and 73.5 cents for farm crops. Car makers can raise prices and at the same time give the public good value for its money.

Keen competition and the need for keeping production up and overhead down at any cost are weighing heavily against price increases in certain cases. Whether or not the increases actually go into effect depends upon the force of these factors as opposed to those of growing sales costs.

BALLOON TIRE IS AID TO MOTORIST

Western Auto Supply Co.
Puts Out Product That Satisfies Public

Women are not only the deciding factor in over 90 per cent of automobile sales, but they are also bringing the equipment and entire fittings of the automobile to a higher standard. They have been largely responsible for the development of the balloon tire.

During the past few years there has been a practice, more or less, of running the car on under-inflated tires. Although the low pressure offered excellent riding comfort, the heavy side walls of cord or fabric would not stand up under this repeated practice. Thus it became necessary that tire men should produce a tire with lighter walls which would contain more air space and could, therefore, operate safely on lower pressure.

Manufacturers then produced the balloon tire, which answered the demand for a low-pressure tire that would give long mileage and many car owners would like to equip their cars with these husky tires but do not feel as though they can afford the cost of changing the wheels and rims on their car," says Roubush, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company, so a number of the leading manufacturers have made balloon tires that fit the car's present equipment.

"Among the new arrivals in this field, is the Western Giant Balloon tire, which is sold through the chain of 100 Western Auto stores in the west. Although they fit the standard equipment of all cars, they produce the superior riding qualities that the other balloons afford that are made for the small wheels. They have the same features: easy riding over rough roads, decreased vibration, give better traction and prevent skidding.

"Women are buying as many of these tires as the men, reports our tire manager.

P.-T. FEDERATION REVIEWS GROWTH

Annual Luncheon

the organization on the wonderful leadership so evident in the organization. He declared that the success of the Glendale school system is in a large measure due to the support of the federation and various Parent-Teacher associations.

The Glendale women were most happy to welcome Mrs. C. C. Noble, one time resident of Glendale, prominent in Parent-Teacher organization and club work, and now state chairman of membership. Mrs. Noble had the pleasure of meeting many old friends, and in her talk she recalled the old slogan "Keeping Up With Glendale."

As president of the board of trustees Albert D. Pearce, pledged his loyalty to the Parent-Teacher association and expressed a hope for a more intimate acquaintance with the various associations.

Emphasizes Growth
It was Mrs. Arthur Brown, past president of the federation, and now a member of the board of trustees of the Glendale city schools, who emphasized the continued growth of Glendale's schools and predicted that ere many months have passed it will be necessary to consider the proposition of another school bond issue.

Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., state chairman of child labor, was another speaker, adding a word of congratulation on the accomplishment of the past year.

The expression of enthusiasm from all of the speakers would not have been complete without the reminiscences of the early days in Glendale Parent-Teacher association history, and predictions of greater things for the future, by Dr. Jessie A. Russell, first president of the Glendale Parent-Teacher association, and past state president. Dr. Russell's active interest in the association's affairs has never waned and the company yesterday were most happy to have her present. Dr. Russell was state president when there were six districts in the state organization and no dues were charged, so to her goes much of the credit for the foundation on which the organization of today is based.

Recalls Old Days
In her usual witty manner she recalled those days and closed with a word of inspiration for the coming year.

Mrs. Moyle spoke on behalf of the Glendale Union High school; Mrs. H. V. Henry as president of the Glendale Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, which she said is the "training school" for the Parent-Teacher association; and Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president elect of the federation, gave a brief greeting.

The installation of officers of the federation and various associations took place in the afternoon in the main auditorium of the church.

A short business session preceded this ceremonial. Just here Mrs. Moore, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Yarik, sang, "Fairy Bark," and "My Jean."

Mrs. Bissell directed the installation, assisted by Mrs. George Moore as marshal of the day, and Mrs. Gerber, pianist.

Newly elected officers of the federation were escorted to the platform, while before the platform stood the newly elected officers of the associations. With words directed to each officer, Mrs. Bissell installed the following officers of the federation: Mrs. R. L. Young, vice president; Mrs. W. R. Wicher, recording secretary; Mrs. A. T. Wintersill, treasurer; Mrs. H. L. Berryman, auditor; Mrs. W. A. Kulp, corresponding secretary.

She called upon Mrs. Moore to install and present the gavel to Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president.

There was one man in the company of officers installed, C. R. Rettberg, president of the Broadway Fathers' Auxiliary. At the close of the installation Mrs. Moore was presented with two large baskets of flowers, and Mrs. A. H. Brown on behalf of the federation presented her with a silver pen and pencil. Another gift to be received by Mrs. Moore was a past president's pin. With the singing of the Parent-Teacher association song, led by Mrs. Bissell, and a hymn, the women disbanded for the summer recess.

BRANCH LIBRARY IN NEW QUARTERS

Permanent Home Secured for Tujunga Institution;
Add More Books

TUJUNGA, June 12.—The Tujunga branch of the Los Angeles county library is to have a permanent home in quarters to be fitted up in the building recently vacated by the Gray and Gray grocery, according to Miss Gilmore, librarian. Miss Gilmore states that a lease has been signed and the library will be moved as soon as the quarters are made ready.

The building is owned by H. H. Breit and formerly was on Sunset boulevard, but was moved to El Centro street to make way for the new Breit building recently finished. The owner will make several alterations to fit the needs of a library, putting in extra windows, partitioning off an office room at the rear for the use of the librarian and other improvements.

To Add More Books
Legion hall has been the home of the Tujunga library since it was established, but the arrangements there have not been satisfactory to either the librarian or the owners of Legion hall. No provision was made for a separate section for the books in the hall and they were frequently misplaced by visitors. At the same time, the Legion needs the space occupied by the book racks for their dances and other affairs and the new arrangement is expected to prove welcome to all concerned.

Several additions to the list of books have been made by Tujunga residents and new books have been added by the head office library and more are expected when the larger quarters are available.

The large radio equipment in the rooms provided music and other numbers that proved especially interesting because of the fact that the artists broadcasting were local people.

PLENTY COMFORT ON LONG JOURNEY

Motorists Enjoy 2,828-Mile Trip from Ohio; Car Is Hudson Six Coach

The popular conception of transcontinental travel in automobiles with untold inconveniences in touring cars when sand, dirt and dust make life almost unbearable, was set at rest this week when Ward Fitch and W. E. McPherson drove from Norwalk, Ohio to Glendale in a Hudson Super-Six coach.

Transcontinental travel is common in open cars, but such travelers do not enjoy the full benefits of the trip as reported by the two motorists who made unusual time on the journey as well as getting good mileage on gasoline. The distance traveled was 2,828 miles and the travelers spent only seven nights on the road.

Mr. Fitch, in speaking of his trip to C. G. Merrick, sales manager for the Kelley Motor company, 316 South Brand boulevard, Hudson and Essex agency, said:

Hits Rough Roads
"We hit some rough roads coming from Norwalk, but the Hudson coach walked right up all the hills and passed many cars on the mountain grades. Our average was between 13 and 14 miles to the gallon of gasoline, which I feel is unusually good, considering the car has been driven over 11,000 miles, and taking into consideration the roads we had to go over.

pose, and it saved us hotel bills. "There was no trouble or inconvenience from dust and dirt, or getting covered up with sand when crossing the desert, such as one experiences when traveling in a touring car. When the sand started to blow we raised the windows, and lowered them when it was all over. In fact, we had all the comforts of a Pullman car, and lots more fun."

Mr. Fitch and Mr. McPherson will visit with Mr. Fitch's parents, A. H. Fitch, of Burlingame, several weeks before starting the return trip to Ohio. The route followed by the two men was over the Lincoln Highway to Salt Lake City, and the Arrowhead Highway to Glendale.

Car Doors Tight
"We expected the body of the car would be pretty badly shaken up after climbing up and down mountains, and over rough roads, but you can see for yourself every door fits tight, there is no rattle and no loose frame. The coach body, we found, is the most sturdy made, or it wouldn't have stood all the bumps and strains the car has to go through.

"All the driving was done in the daytime, we did no night traveling. When night came, we just fixed our beds right in the car and went to sleep. We found the standard equipment of the coach very useful for this purpose, included in the party were Miss Elizabeth Benedict and Mrs. Marx Thorsen and children of East El Centro street, Tujunga, and Mrs. Thorsen's two married sons and their wives of Los Angeles. The trip they took is over a trail that is followed several times each year by them and other hiking parties.

Cloves come from the Indies, and take their name from the Latin clauvia, meaning "a nail."

Hikers Scale Peak in Sierra Madre Range

TUJUNGA, June 12.—A party of hikers enjoyed a trip Sunday up Mt. Sister Elsie, one of the foothill peaks of the Sierra Madre range north of Tujunga. The hikers ascended to the lookout station at an elevation of 5,000 feet, where during the summer months there is a guard on duty to guard against brush and forest fires in the hills.

Included in the party were Miss Elizabeth Benedict and Mrs. Marx Thorsen and children of East El Centro street, Tujunga, and Mrs. Thorsen's two married sons and their wives of Los Angeles. The trip they took is over a trail that is followed several times each year by them and other hiking parties.

SEALS DEFEATED BY SERAPHS, 7-6, IN SECOND TILT

Root Staves Off Rally In Ninth With Two On And None Down

By BEN McGuire
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Charley Root was the hero of the day for Los Angeles yesterday, when he replaced Nick Dumovich. There were two on, none down and two needed to tie the score, with the heavy artillery coming up at the time. Root forced the Seal sluggers to pop out to the infield, Los Angeles taking the second straight from the league leading Seals, 7 to 6.

It was a nip and tuck combat throughout the nine innings of play. Shea weakened in the seventh and Marty's men rapped him for four hits including a home run by Hood, netting them three runs and enough to win before Griffin could be brought to the rescue. Both Shea and Payne were very erratic. Brilliant fielding by both clubs saved them on several occasions.

TIGERS 1, OAKS 2

OAKLAND, June 12.—The Tigers came so close to winning yesterday's game here in the ninth inning that the great Walter Mails was called in to save the day. The Oaks succeeded by the grace of Mails, the hitting of Lafayette, Brubaker, Adam, Read, Catcher, et al, and the costly errors of several Vernon shining lights, to land the game, 2 to 1. Boehler started on the mound for the locals and hurled airtight ball for eight innings, holding the Bengals to three hits and no runs. In the ninth the Tigers began clamoring for raw meat and McDowell hit safely, Griffin walked, Murphy popped out, Jack Warner fanned, Chadbourne singled, scoring McDowell, Menosky walked.

BEES 1, SACS 3

SACRAMENTO, June 12.—The Bees were unable to solve the slants of Charlie Hall in yesterday's game and the Senators went into a tie for fourth place with the visitors when they won, 3 to 1. Kallio was a trifle wild and allowed eight hits, while his teammates were able to gather only four hits off Hall. Several Switches Are Made As Leaders Seek to Find Acceptable Man cess that came after the nomination of Coolidge, the question heard on all sides was "Who's Sanders?"

Administration leaders were kept busy explaining that Sanders had been in Congress for eight years, that he was "regular," that he was acceptable to President Coolidge, and that he was a forceful speaker and "all right."

While the Coolidge nomination speeches were being made on the platform of the convention hall, the president held a long-distance telephone conversation with a number of western leaders who had gone to a booth in the basement.

Kenyon Favored

Shortly before this William M. Butler, the president's personal campaign manager, had had word from the White House that the president wished Judge Kenyon named and he transmitted the word promptly to the leaders on the floor.

It created an immediate sensation. Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, Secretary of War Weeks, Senators Reed of Pennsylvania, Wadsworth of New York and Frank W. Stearns of Boston immediately repaired to the basement. Mr. Mellon and Senator Reed were understood to have decided they could not support Judge Kenyon. Stearns, on the other hand, was understood to support Kenyon on the long distance and after talking with him for a few moments turned the phone over to Secretary Mellon, who held quite an extended conversation. Then Senator Reed took the phone. The president informed them, it is understood, that either Judge Kenyon or Representative Sanders was acceptable to the president, and as soon as the conversation was finished the organization strength was thrown behind the Hoosier.

Select Sanders

As between Kenyon and Sanders, the administration leaders here on the grounds chose Sanders without a moment's hesitation. The word that Butler had meanwhile sent out in favor of Kenyon was recalled and orders were issued to canvass the delegations for Sanders.

When the convention recessed at 2:30 p. m. until 3:30 this afternoon, it seemed certain that Sanders would get the call, despite a great amount of Kenyon strength in the middle western delegations.

The leaders got together soon as the convention recessed. Senator Wadsworth and Representative O'Brien immediately started to line up the great New York delegation in Sanders' behalf. The word that Butler had meanwhile sent out in favor of Kenyon was recalled and orders were issued to canvass the delegations for Sanders.

Both the New York and Pennsylvania delegations had previously caucused for Curtis of Kansas whose sensational drop after his nomination had been earlier agreed upon, was one of the most dramatic events of any convention.

Unanimous Vote Is Blocked by Wisconsin

recognize Mrs. Florence Porter of California to second the nomination.

From California Mrs. Porter, an elderly and portly lady with snow-white hair and a kindly face beaming behind her spectacles, received a great hand.

"It's my great honor, in behalf of the Republicans of California, to second the nomination of Calvin Coolidge," she began, amid cheers.

California stands loyal to the Coolidge ticket. I also second the nomination in the name of that new citizenship—the Republican womanhood.

"The number of women delegates and alternates in this convention totals 453. We women have faith in Calvin Coolidge and we believe that the faith and genius of our great leaders of the past have been handed down to him."

When she had concluded, Mondell recognized Martin B. Madden of Illinois, to second the nomination for his state.

Ex-Governor W. W. Stickney of Vermont was next recognized and seconded the nomination in behalf of the president's native state. After him were a number of secondary talks, while the convention clamored for the rollcall.

Annual Event Is Held By Dealers

High Jinks Held at Forest Home Declared Best In Association History

The association were present at the dinner—George Clayton, first president; C. H. Hunter, third president; and Lyman P. Clark, present executive. The only past president missing was George P. Smith, who ruled the destinies of the club in its second year.

Urges Expansion

Mr. Clayton, in an address delivered during the dinner, suggested that the association expand and take in dealers in the San Fernando valley. He told of the early work of the club and how the foundation for the present organization was laid during his administration.

The outstanding feature of the present organization, President Clark said, was the spirit of friendly competition shown in the automobile selling game today.

This feeling has tended to increase rather than decrease business, he said, and was a benefit to dealers. Dealers who used to fight trade wars with one another are now on a friendly basis, but still doing business, he said.

Sounds Keynote

Harry E. White sounded the keynote of the automobile situation when he urged a closer cooperation between manufacturer and dealer. Manufacturers should not cause a flooded market in new cars, he said, and the practice of sending cars to the dealer with instructions to sell them or lose their territory would never build up business. The second important item in the selling game today, the speaker said, was the used car situation. Every dealer should give a fair price for a used car and stick to it. Overbidding by other dealers was injurious to the used car market, he said.

M. B. Towman, secretary of the organization, and also manager of the Glendale branch of the Southern California Automobile club, gave a brief history of the association. There were only five members at the start, he said, while today the paid-up membership stood at eighty dealers.

Present Each Guest

An interesting feature of the dinner was the self-introduction of every guest present. In turn, each rose and stated his name, business, place of business and told something about his business. Short addresses were made by several members of the association in addition to the principal speakers.

Chief among the fishermen in the party were W. H. Daniel and Tom Smith, who carried away the honors for landing the biggest trout. A number of the dealers and their guests enjoyed fishing and bathing, with a few taking to boating and others enjoyed tramping through the woods.

The feature of the night was a specially prepared program arranged by the entertainment committee which left nothing to be desired in the way of amusement.

Those in Party

Tickets To Big Game Saturday Selling Fast

Have you bought your ticket for the big game Saturday when the consistent winning White Sox team will meet the players from the U. S. S. New Mexico, the champions of the Pacific fleet? If not, you can secure as many as you want by getting in touch with the baseball day committee, or at many of the stores in the city.

One of the biggest crowds ever seen at a baseball game in Glendale is expected to be on hand Saturday afternoon at the park on San Fernando road when Carl Sawyer leads his championship team against the pick of the Pacific fleet.

It will not be easy pickings for the White Sox, and every player on the team realizes this fact. The Sox have been up against some hard competition in the last three or four months, and have come out on top. They will run up against the fastest playing aggregation of hitters they have ever faced when the U. S. S. New Mexico team takes the field. But confidence has won many games, and there will be plenty of confidence among the pale hose crew Saturday, according to Boss Sawyer. The Sox want to make it seventeen in a row without a defeat, while the boys are coming with the intention of turning back the fastest semi-pro team in California, and try to do something no other team has been able to do for many weeks—beat the White Sox.

Glendallians will have the opportunity next Saturday to decide whether the city shall receive unlimited publicity by supporting a winning ball team. The whole matter is put squarely up to the citizens by Frank Kerwin, owner of the Sox. It is up to the people to decide.

HILARITY REIGNS AT MURPHY SHOW

'The Unkissed Bride' Rouses Audience to Laughter At Tent Theatre

"The Unkissed Bride" continues to draw capacity crowds to the Murphy tent on Stocker street between Brand boulevard and Central avenue, Casa Verdugo, and the screams of laughter that accompany each performance are proofs of the cleverness of the comedy situations that are brought about in this boudoir farce.

The plot centers on a "mock" marriage which brings in many complications when the supposed farcical ceremony proves to have really united the couple. The scenes leading up to the disclosure rock the audience with laughter and those following keep it in the same condition throughout the remainder of the show.

The tent show is still drawing great numbers of people from Glendale and neighboring cities into Casa Verdugo to be entertained by the hilariously funny comedies being presented by the Murphy comedians. "The Unkissed Bride" will show for the final time on Saturday night and the popular comedy "East is West" will be presented for the first time on Sunday, June 15, to continue for a week's run.

ATTORNEY TALKS ON AMERICANISM

Eugene J. Wix Asks Rotary To Co-operate In Plans For Flag Day

"Americanism" was the topic of Attorney Eugene J. Wix representing the American Legion in a speech before the Glendale Rotary club this noon in calling attention to Flag day. He outlined the work being done by the Legionnaires and urged that the service organizations of the city co-operate.

Teaching respect for the constitution is one of the big duties of the American Legion, he pointed out, and educating the immigrant to be American citizens rather than I. W. W. and anarchists, is another purpose for which the members are pledged.

Briefly the speaker touched upon the adjusted compensation, rehabilitation, vocational placement, caring for orphans and other activities of the former service men's organization.

Fish For Lunch

Two other features of the luncheon were the fish brought in yesterday by a party headed by Roy L. Kent and the numerous Los Angeles visitors who were present to eat the fish.

J. E. Phillips announced that the funeral of L. A. Luce, former Rotarian, would be held at the Little Church of the Flowers Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. E. E. Ford told of his trip to Milwaukee.

Visitors included R. C. Riddell, A. C. Riddell, C. S. James, Ed Twomey, William Stevens, F. E. Golding, Bill Bowman, Jim Costello, Luther R. Reynolds, and J. Gregg Layne of Los Angeles.

W. C. Wickenden, San Luis Obispo; H. H. Guild, Santa Barbara; Ralph Page, Pomona; and Max Dannenbaum, Parsons, Kan.

The policy of the United Theatre in Eagle Rock of charging only thirty cents including war tax is drawing many Glendale people to this popular show house. On Friday and Saturday Harold Bell Wright's "When a Man's a Man" will be shown.

LOCAL NET STARS COP LEAGUE FLAG

Dynamiters Annex Pennant For Second Time; Beat Alhambra 15-2

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Glendale High school net team topped the Central league banner yesterday, when it trounced the Alhambra Moors on the local courts here, 15-2. The only match lost was the third singles, all the others went to the home boys with little fight. Rodney Houser and Behlow, expelled members of the Moor team, were not playing, and consequently the visitors were considerably weakened.

The first singles went to Glendale when Bob Laird defeated Mills of Alhambra, 6-2, 6-0. Mills was off his game and had difficulty in timing his shots; on the other hand, Laird missed nothing, and drove Mills off his feet. Wayne Maxwell was playing fairly well and took Rowley down the line, 6-4, 6-0. The Glendale player found Rowley easy meat, and did not have to exert himself at all.

Hard-Fought Set

The third singles was the hardest-fought battle of the whole match. Jewell White had just recovered from a bad cold, and was playing rather poorly. Ward, the Alhambra player, had a mean sliced cut stroke which bounced phony and threw White off his balance. Ward won after a long drawn out siege which was two hours in duration, and was won 2-6, 6-1, 7-5. After the match White was all in and was unable to compete in the second doubles match.

Francis Hardey walked over Cowan in the fourth singles, 6-4, 6-0. Hardey used his chop to a great advantage, and was on top during both of the sets.

The first doubles went to the Dynamiters, 6-0, 6-1. Maxwell and Laird beating Mills and Rowley of Alhambra. Lee Osborne and Francis White went through Ward and Cowan, 6-3, 6-1.

Second Time Victors

This is the second consecutive tennis pennant that the local have won. Last year, unless radical changes are made, the Dynamiters will have another winning team. Maxwell has one more year, while White has three. Hardey also has another year with G. U. H. S. To fill in the cost will be $4.25 a front foot, with probable higher costs on account of incidentals.

Contract Menaced

It was brought out that one property owner on Glendale avenue, who holds title under the Torrens title act, was informed she would be compelled to pay $225 cash for her fifty-foot lot, and that unless she signed an agreement, made necessary by the fact that she was not properly served with a notice of assessment, the entire proceedings might be invalid, or the contract would be invalid if carried out.

President C. W. Ingledue, who presided at the meeting, appointed C. W. Bacon, J. F. McClish and R. M. Brown as members of a special committee to investigate the alleged errors in the lighting proposition at once and report at the meeting next Thursday.

Industrial Plans

William Tisch, president of the Bungalow Building & Finance company, told members of the association of plans to secure industrial plants for Glendale. The company, he said, was organized in Glendale for that purpose, but declared he had not received proper support. He told of a plan to manufacture pulp boxes for cigars here, the patents for which he holds after inventing the construction methods. Mr. McClish, J. F. Chandler and Henry Jaacks were named members of a committee to investigate the company and report to the association.

Charles Stuart reported that the City Planning commission had recommended the city convert the site of an old reservoir on Maple avenue to the City Council, and had also recommended two other old reservoir sites as parks. The commission has recommended widening Cerritos avenue from Glendale avenue to the new railroad station, Mr. Stuart said.

Girls in Schools

For the time being the Frieders are making their home at 113 East 1st street, where they have two daughters, Gertrude and Annette, have entered the local schools and are already in love with their surroundings and classmates.

Extensive improvements in the way of showcases, and a specially built-in refrigerator are features which Mr. Fried has given his personal attention in the establishing of his new market.

MARKET TO OPEN ON SOUTH BRAND

Modern Establishment Will Carry Complete Line of Meat, Groceries

Announcement is made today for the opening on Saturday of the New York Market at the corner of South Brand boulevard and Maple avenue. Here, asserts the proprietor, L. Fried, a complete line of fresh meats, fish, fruits and vegetables will always be carried in stock.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE JUNE BUG

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, he heard a queer buzzing sound coming from the middle of a mulberry bush. It was around this mulberry bush that the animal children often played the game "London Bridge Is Falling Down."

"But there are no children playing here now," said Uncle Wiggily, as he looked at the bush. "I wonder who is making that buzzing sound?" he asked, speaking aloud.

"I'm making the noise," answered a sad voice, "and I'm in such trouble!"

"Who are you?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"I'm a June Bug," was the answer. "I am caught fast in a tangle of leaves on this bush, and I can't get loose. I have buzzed my wings and buzzed my wings, but still I am held fast."

"I will help you to get loose," said Uncle Wiggily, who felt sorry for the poor June Bug. Hopping over to the bush, the bunny parted the leaves until he saw the big June Bug caught by his legs in the tangle. Then, very gently, Uncle Wiggily tore the leaves away, until the bug could fly free.

"Oh, thank you so much!" buzzed Mr. Flitter, which was the name of the June Bug. "You are very kind to me, Uncle Wiggily, and I hope I may soon have the chance of being kind to you."

"Oh, don't worry about that," laughed the bunny gentleman, as he twinkled his pink nose upside down. Then he hopped away to find an adventure. And, as Uncle Wiggily hopped down the hill, up from the other side came rushing the Fox and Wolf.

"Was that Uncle Wiggily who just hopped away?" asked the Fox of the June Bug.

"Yes," buzzed Mr. Flitter, "it was."

"I told you so!" howled the Wolf, "and if you hadn't been so slow getting here, Mr. Fox, we would have caught that rabbit. It was all your fault!"

"Nonsense! My fault!" snapped the Fox. "It was yours for not coming around the hill the other way. Then we might have caught him, as he hopped down. But, never mind. We shall catch him tonight!"

"How?" asked the Wolf.

"We'll hide near his bungalow," went on the Fox. "When he comes home, we'll jump out at him before he knows it. We'll catch him and carry him to my den!"

"That's what we'll do!" cried the Wolf.

"Oh, the bad chaps!" cried the June Bug, who heard all that the Fox and Wolf said. "So they are going to hide near Uncle Wiggily's bungalow, are they, and jump out at him when he comes home this evening? Well, I must find a way to save the rabbit gentleman. I must tell him to keep away from his bungalow until the Fox and Wolf get tired of waiting for him."

So the June Bug buzzed through the woods, looking for Uncle Wiggily to tell him about the Fox and Wolf. But Mr. Flitter could not find the rabbit, who was far away looking for an adventure.

"Then I must go to the bungalow and tell Nurse Jane to be on the watch for the Fox and Wolf," said the Bug.

But Nurse Jane wasn't at the hollow stump bungalow, for she had gone to help Mrs. Wobble wobble, the lady duck, make some apple pies.

"Then I must stay here myself, and warn Uncle Wiggily, when he comes, that the Fox and Wolf are going to try and get him,"

"We'll catch him!" went on the Fox.

Would Wed Girl Bandit

ROBERT EDGAR STEPHENS believes LEONA SHEEHAN, accused as a "bobbed-hair bandit," is not so bad as she is painted, and he is willing to marry her.

BOSTON, June 12.—He believes she is more sinned against than sinning, and Robert Edgar Stephens, Boston engineer, wants to marry pretty Leona Sheehan, accused "Bobbed Hair Bandit," as soon as she is released—if she will say "yes."

Leona was arrested by the police on the charge of having held up and robbed a Harvard student. The girl, who denies the charge, hasn't said whether she will accept or refuse Stephens' proposal.

From Book Of Life

THE MOULDS IN WHICH GOOD POETRY IS CAST

The materials of good poetry, collected and produced by the powers of observation and description, sensibility, reflection, imagination, fancy and judgment, are cast, by means of various moulds, into divers forms.

The moulds were enumerated and the forms specified by William Wordsworth, in the following order:

"The Narrative—including the historic poem, the tale, the romance, the mock-heroic, and if the spirit of Homer will tolerate such neighborhood, that dear production of our days (Wordsworth here refers to the period of the Romantic Movement in England—the early eighteenth century), the metrical novel. Of this class, the distinguishing mark is that the narrator, however liberally his speaking agents be introduced, is himself the source from which everything primarily flows. Epic poets in order that their mode of composition may accord with the elevation of their subject, represent themselves as singing from the inspiration of the muse, but this is a fiction, in modern times, of slight value; the 'Iliad,' or 'Paradise Lost' would gain little in estimation by being chanted. The other poets who belong to this class are commonly content to tell their tale; so that of the

"The dramatic—consisting of tragedy, historic drama, comedy, and the masque, in which the poet does not appear at all in his own person, and where the whole action is carried on by speech and dialogue of the agents; music being introduced only incidentally and rarely. The opera may be placed here, inasmuch as it proceeds by dialogue; though depending, to the degree that it does, upon music, it has a strong claim to be ranked with the lyrical. The characteristic and impassioned Epistle, of which Ovid and Pope have given examples, considered as species of monodrama, may, without impropriety, be placed in this class.

"The lyrical, containing the hymn, the ode, the elegy, the song, and the ballad; in all which, for the production of their full effect, an accompaniment of music is indispensable.

"The idyllic, descriptive chiefly by either of the processes and appearances of external nature, as the 'Seasons' of Thomson; or of characters, manners, and sentiments, as are Shensstone's 'Schoolmistress,' the 'Cotter's Saturday Night' of Burns, 'The Two Dogs' of the same author; or of most of the pieces of Theocritus, the 'Allegro' and 'Penseroso' of Milton.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By LUTHER A. HUSTON

For International News Service.

LONDON, June 12.—Subtract thirty from five hundred.

If there was nothing to this problem but arithmetic it should be easy. But when it becomes a diplomatic problem, as it is in the present instance, it is a whole lot more intricate.

The equation then becomes: 500 minus thirty equals 470 disappointed American women.

Stated more baldly, the elements of the problem are that 500 American women want to be presented at the Court of St. James during the 1924 season. Only thirty are going to be presented. The remaining 470 are out of luck.

Where diplomacy comes in is that it is the task of Frank B. Kellogg, United States ambassador in London, and his staff, to select the thirty lucky ones. It can't be done just by dropping 500 names in a hat and picking out thirty of them. No matter what happens, the embassy is going to make 470 enemies and diplomats have to be careful about the enemies they make.

The problem is a lot more difficult this year than in previous years. Last season the American embassy was allowed to present forty American women at court. This year they have been notified by the court chamberlain that the list must be restricted to thirty, exclusive of wives, sisters and sweethearts of diplomats, who have a special standing.

Although the number to be presented is less, there has been no falling off in the number of aspirants.

Diplomats never get peeved and never give interviews for publication. Therefore it must not be assumed that the American gentleman who is about to be quoted was sore about anything or that he spoke in an official capacity.

"It's disgusting," he ejaculated. "It seems like every woman in the United States who has any idea that she may come to Europe this summer thinks she ought to be presented at court. It's a nuisance for the embassy to have to spend its time answering letters and telegrams from women who want to get on the list. We've got 500 of 'em already and they are still rolling in."

The problem will be settled, of course, and diplomatically, so that the enemies that are bound to be made will be selected as judiciously as possible. But tempers at the American embassy are going to be under a tremendous strain until the courts, which continue through June, are out of the way.

Views and Theatres News Notes

Compiled by Members of The Evening News Staff

THE GLENDALE

Mary Pickford in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" is showing tonight at the Glendale Theatre.

THE GATEWAY

Cecil B. DeMille's feature picture "Triumph" will show at the Gateway Theatre today and will continue until the end of the week.

THE T. D. & L.

"Boy of Mine" opens today at the T. D. & L. Theatre and will show tomorrow and Saturday.

HAVE YOU IT?

"It" is the word used by Elinor Glyn to describe the attraction. Screen heroines and heroes must have it, the authoress says.

COMPLETE 'BEDROOM WINDOW

William De Mille and Clara Beranger have completed editing and titling of "The Bedroom Window," Mrs. Beranger's mystery drama which Mr. De Mille filmed at the Lasky Studio in Hollywood and which the producer and author edited at the Long Island Paramount studio.

During the next month the producer and the author will complete the preliminary details in connection with the forthcoming filming of "Spring Cleaning," the next William De Mille production. Mrs. Beranger is making the screen adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's sensational New York stage success. A notable cast will be seen in the new picture.

SERIOUS THOUGHT

The industry doesn't manufacture entertainment for the love of the thing. They are in business to make money and, consequently, they will manufacture the kind of stuff which will attract patronage. If fans don't patronize the kind of photoplays put out by men like J. K. McDonald or John Stahl or any of the other few—then they cannot expect these producers to continue along "safe and sane" lines. No one wants to starve to death.

PLEASE PAGE A BARBER

"Be your own barber" now means more than a phrase to R. H. Edson, Paramount actor, according to a story going the rounds in Hollywood.

Seems that Edson had just completed the part of a Mexican don in a production and was still possessed of the super long hair, mustache and side-burns typical of the role.

It was Sunday evening. According to schedule nearly a week was to elapse before he was due to play a snappy, well-groomed modern lawyer.

The phone rang. "Schedule's been changed," said an assistant. "Report tomorrow morning, nine sharp."

"Exactly forty-seven miles in my car found no barber shops open," says Edson. "And the call didn't allow time in the morning. So I barricaded myself with mirrors, borrowed a pair of shears and went to it. I now know why I have never seen an old barber!"

START 'EMPTY HANDS'

Victor Fleming, newest addition to the ranks of contract Paramount directors, has started work on "Empty Hands," his first picture under his new contract.

Jack Holt will head a strong featured cast which is being assembled. The story is an adaptation by Carey Wilson of Arthur Stringer's story of the same name.

Fleming recently signed a long term contract to direct for Paramount following the success of several of his recent pictures including the Zane Grey stories, "To the Last Man," and "The Call of the Canyon" and Byron Morgan's "The Code of the Sea."

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:—Last September (1923) I sent for your reducing pamphlet and started to count my calories. At that time, I weighed 260. I am five feet, four inches in height. I now weigh 178, a loss of 82 pounds in eight months, and am still losing. I have taken exercises every day and have taken a bath afterward. The bath and the exercises take about 45 minutes, and this has kept my flesh firm and I have not had a haggard look in my face. My friends all remark how wonderful I look and some of them hardly recognize me. Our family physician tells me that I have added 20 years to my life. I am now 30 years old.

"Counting calories seems like playing a game in which I am the winner. I thank you again for what you have done for me.—Mrs. M."

Eighty-two pounds in eight months! At 260, you were some fat baby, weren't you? I don't wonder your friends don't recognize you now. You hardly recognize yourself. You have probably added more than 20 years to your life and more than 40 years of happiness. This counting calories—"Peterizing," some of our followers call it—is a great little game, isn't it? Don't forget—calories must come from foods which also supply vitamins, mineral elements and proteins, or else your health will suffer.

"Dear Miss Peters:—I would like very much if you would send me answers to the following questions: First, I would like a formula for some 'dope' to put on my hair to keep it in place. Second, I would also like you to send me a list of exercises to develop the shoulders and back. Third, what can I do to keep my back straight? I always have a tendency to draw the center toward the front. This, of course, makes my spine crooked. If you will answer these questions, I shall be very thankful.—Chester."

"P. S.—Am a boy going on 15."

I knew you were a boy, Chester, the moment I read that you wanted some "dope" to put on your hair to keep it in place, and I knew just what age you are, too. It is the fact that you are beginning to be careful of your personal appearance now. Did you read our articles on the care of the hair? I have them in pamphlet form now, and you may have them. (Send s. a. s. e. with your request.) It is during boyhood and girlhood that you should acquire the habit of daily caring for the scalp, so one won't become bald in later life.

"What kind of a clothes line shall I buy?" is a question which comes in to me frequently from Bride Readers.

Today we find in hardware stores various kinds of clothes lines, all of which are good. Some housewives like one kind, some another. I know of several old housekeepers who declare that a galvanized iron clothes line is the only kind they would have in their back yards. Of course this is the most expensive type of line, but, as my house-keeper friends say, it is very satisfactory and will last practically a life-time. It will not rust the clothes. It never knots or gets out of place. And another advantage lies in the fact that frozen corners of clothes in cold weather will not stick to a galvanized iron line, as they will to a cotton or hemp line.

Cinder Is Champ's Bait

IRENE LANE aroused the sympathy of men by pleading that she had something in her eye, police say, and when they tried to remove it she worked her wiles on them and went into the "gold-digging" business.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Police say Miss Irene Lane, pretty flapper, lured men and succeeded in extracting money from them by playing on their sympathies after enlisting their aid in removing cinders from her eye. They have dubbed her the "cinder vampirer." Irene's use of this novel method of "gold digging" led to her undoing when she obtained a check for $30 from Ramon E. C. Wilkin, late of Australia, after having made his acquaintance with the aid of a cinder.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

NEGLECTED
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman 26 years old. My husband is 16 years my senior. We have four children, the oldest six years and the youngest ten months. Before we were married he would take me around some, but not as much as other fellows would and he always seemed to be jealous of me. Since we have been married he never thinks of taking me to a show and doesn't believe in it. He has a fit if I go with some woman or even my sister. Recently I had my hair bobbed. Before I had it bobbed I used to talk about it to him, but I guess he thought I was fooling and wouldn't make me an answer. I thought he didn't care one way or the other and so I finally had it bobbed. Every one says it is much better than before and very becoming, but since I had it bobbed my husband doesn't speak to me at all or notice me and he doesn't give me one cent of money or leave me a cent, but hides it.

scoured as above directed. If the rust resists this treatment it may be touched quickly with hydrochloric acid (a poison) followed by ammonia to neutralize the acid. After removing all the rust from the line, it is best to apply a coat of white paint or white enamel. A painted metal clothes line needs only to be wiped off with a damp cloth before using.

TRIALS OF LOVE
Dear Mrs. Thompson: Some six months ago I met an unfortunate young woman whom I learned to love very much not only for herself but for her child, too. Apparently she cared for me but when I asked her to marry me she said she would think it over and answer me but left the place where we were both working without giving me an answer. It may be she thought I was rather cold and distant, but I was afraid she would think I was like the brute that betrayed her if I tried real love-making. After she left the daughter of the house wrote

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

SOME BEAUTY FORMULAS

There are several little things which every woman who wishes to preserve her beauty must keep on her dressing table or in her bathroom cabinet. One is a good quality general cold cream. I have often given the formula for this, but, in case you have forgotten it, here it is:

White Wax ..... 1 ounce
Spermaceti ..... 1 ounce
White Mineral Oil ..... 5 ounces
Rose Water ..... 1 1/2 ounces
Powdered Borax ..... 30 grains
Oil of Bitter Almonds ..... 15 drops

This last item may be changed to 15 drops of any perfumed oil that suits your fancy. Personally, I like the pungency of the bitter almond. This formula is very simple to make up, and gives you enough cold cream to last some time. If you wish the cream to be flesh-building, as well as cleansing, substitute olive or almond for the mineral oil.

In addition to a cold cream, you need a hair tonic. Personally, I recommend the Pilocarpine tonic, the formula for which has been frequently given, and will be given again in a forthcoming Chat. You will also need an astringent. There are many good ones, and many expensive ones, on the market; but you can manage very well by purchasing an ounce of tincture of benzoin and pouring it into a bottle filled with plain water until you have a solution that looks like thin skimmed milk. Such an astringent costs almost nothing, and you can put your money into the bottle, which will be a permanent ornament, rather than into the contents. To use such a strong tincture wet a bit of absorbent cotton with water, then with this solution rub over the face after it has been washed and rinsed.

You have now the three essentials: a cream, a hair tonic and an astringent. You need a bleach. I can recommend nothing better than lemon juice diluted with an equal amount of rose water. This will do for face or finger nails.

Brown Betty—Use a bath brush when bathing, and scrub with hot water and soap on all parts of the body where there is this tendency to blackheads. Rinse with cool and then very cold water to close pores and stimulate the skin to a healthy action.

Wearing a hair net would not cause dandruff; you can improve this condition by massaging the scalp every day until it glows from increased circulation.

Walking is one way of reducing the hips, but playing tennis will be more beneficial, as you will be exercising all over.

R. R. R.—I will be glad to send you the henna formulas on receipt of your request including a stamped self-addressed envelope for mailing.

Ethel—Almond meal will be all right to use in cleansing pores in which there are blackheads.

Tomorrow—Scalp Stimulation

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Mrs. Russell William Magna, of Holyoke, Mass., formerly of New York, has been nominated as a candidate for the national office of vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, at a conference held in Worcester, Mass. Mrs. Magna is the daughter of Col. Walter Scott, president of the Worcester Free Industrial School for Crippled Children of New York.

Mrs. Curtis D. Wilbur, wife of the new secretary of the navy, says, "Girls smoke because they think it is smart. No one wants to start smoking. I suppose girls do foolish things like that because they say everybody else does it, but that's no reason. It's such a poor excuse. Why can't her several letters and as long as I sent a message to the young woman or the child, an answer came by return mail. When I stopped sending messages the time between letters kept getting longer each time. Now the question I want you to answer is this: Would it be proper and fair to the young woman for me to ask the woman where we both worked to go talk to the girl for me? She knows what the girl's feelings are for me and has hinted that she knew she really cared. I neglected to say that I made one visit to see the girl where she now is and that after she had kept me waiting one and a half hours to see her she told me she didn't want to see me.

DESIDENT.
If the woman you have in mind is tactful and can really help, it would be a good idea to have her mediate for you. However, the go-between is notorious for making bad matters worse under most circumstances. Perhaps a gentle persistence on your part might have a better result. Your own bigness and generosity of spirit should help you to compass this. Apparently you already understand that the deeply wounded cringe away from the very thing that might cure because once it also caused the wound.

Crowds Throng Store For Half Price Sale

Large crowds responded to announcements of the annual June half price sale which started this morning at the Fashion Center at 202 South Brand boulevard. M. McKinnon, manager of the store reports, and adds that the sales force was swamped.

The doors were thrown open promptly at 8:30 o'clock as was announced and a constant stream of people have been pouring into the store throughout the morning to take advantage of the wonderful bargains being offered. Nearly the entire stock has been included in this half price sale including coats, dresses for afternoon, evening, street or sports wear; millinery, blouses, sweaters and skirts.

A large stock of wearing apparel which was purchased by Mr. McKinnon on a recent trip to New York City has also been included in the sale. The manager reports that the stocks will be depleted quickly if the sale continues to attract as it did this morning, and urges Glendale women to take advantage of the bargains offered today.

College Women to Install New Leaders

Miss Ann Mumford of the Los Angeles University Women's club and corresponding secretary of the California organization of the American Association of University Women, is to install newly elected officers of the Glendale College Women's club at the annual play day Saturday in Griffith park.

The club women are to motor over to the park late in the morning. Each one is to bring a basket lunch, cup and spoon. All having thermos bottles are asked to bring them filled with coffee. Ice cream will be for sale.

Board Members to Gather at Luncheon

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, retiring president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, has extended invitations to all members of the club who have served on the executive board during her two years as president, to all past presidents of the club and to club editors, for luncheon next Monday at the Oakmont Country club.

This will be one of the final gatherings of board members with Mrs. Campbell before she retires from the presidency of the club.

MINOR OPERATION

A minor operation was performed yesterday afternoon at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on Mrs. D. Reno of 312 Lincoln street. Mrs. Roy Nelson of 1257 Lynnon avenue underwent minor surgery this morning at the same institution.
